VAN SWERINGEN MERGER REJECTED

MAGNATES' POLICY OVER OBJECTION IS CAUSING INTEREST

Action Clarifies Government Stand On Con-
solidations

By United Press
WASHINGTON, March 3.—The interstate commerce commission's disapproval of the gigantic Van Sweringen merger, although a staggering blow to the rising railroad magnates has served to clarify government policy toward the huge rail consolidation.

There was much speculation today as to the next step of the Van Sweringens, particularly as to whether they will re-arrange the financial structure of their combine to meet government objections, as officials analyzed the commission's action to discover its basic principles.

Among the things they found were:
1.—That the commission had set its face against minority control of public and semi-public utilities through centering direction in small blocks of voting shares, while majority holdings are in non-voting shares, as provided in the Van Sweringen plan.

2.—That the commission has scrapped its tentative plan, promulgated in 1921, of consolidating the railroads of the country into nine separate systems willing to adopt that plan to the voluntary proposals of railroad operators, where they follow the general public interest.

3.—That all future mergers must take care of weak, short line railroads tributary to major component lines in the interests of the community they serve and not be abandoned to their fate when their parent lines are combined. The commission sharply criticized the Van Sweringens for leaving short lines out of consideration.

These three points and the manner in which they were stressed, by the commission do much to clear up the haze surrounding government policy toward rail mergers.

The Cummins bill pending in the senate, which allows the nation's roads a stated period in which to re-organize voluntarily, probably will be re-drafted, the Senate to incorporate in its provisions concerning financing and short line operation to safeguard minority stockholder and short line interests. A disturbing aftermath of the Van Sweringen decision was a rumor that there had been a "leak" from the commission some hours before it was announced. This rumor was predicated on the smashing break in the stock market.

Commission officials flatly deny there had been a "leak" but it is not improbable, however, that there may be an investigation of the alleged "leak" as on similar occasions during the war.

The way has been left open by the commission for the Van Sweringens to revamp their financial plans and secure approval of the merger. Another avenue toward approval is the courts, to which the Van Sweringens might resort with a suit challenging the committee's jurisdiction to reject their application on financial grounds.

STATE BANKS RAISE RESOURCES IN YEAR

COLUMBUS, March 3.—Total resources and deposits larger than in 1924 was the record Ohio's 742 supervised state banks accomplished during the calendar year 1925. H. Scott, state superintendent of banks declared in a statement issued today.

Total resources of the banks December 31, 1925 were $2,018,954,191, an increase of $143,475,832 over the amount reported December 31, 1924. Total deposits were $1,702,544,019, an increase of more than $95,557,525.

Individual deposits were $477,315,365, an increase of $22,955,203. Savings deposits were $827,212,196, an increase of $57,218,114.

Loans and discounts were $1,295,048,559, an increase of $120,949,651.

MOTHER RESCUES CHILDREN AT FIRE

CINCINNATI, March 3.—A valiant mother rescued four of her children when fire swept her home here today. Two other children escaped while their mother was carrying the others to safety. With flames licking at her clothing, Mrs. Nellie Brooks, 27, aroused by the screams of her children, rushed into their burning and smoke-filled bedroom, gathered the children into her arms and fought her way to the street.

THREE KILLED IN COLLISION

Chicago Suburban Train Crashes Into Freight In Darkness—More Than Score Numbered
With Injured

CHICAGO, March 3.—Speeding through the darkness of early morning with returning theatergoers, an Illinois Central suburban train crashed head on with a Michigan Central freight train. Three were killed and a score injured, many of them seriously.

Edward E. Benjamin, conductor on the I. C. train, Ollie Nelson, believed to have been a passenger, and T. A. Grieman, fireman, died at a hospital. At least three of the injured are so badly hurt they may die, hospital attendants said.

After-theater goers who were riding the suburban train, were considerably thinned out when the two trains crashed, the majority of passengers having left at closer down town stations.

When the crash came there was much confusion. The two engines were tangled into a mass of steel and windows of the suburban were shattered.

Passengers were forced to fight their way through the train beating out already broken windows, in order to get clear of the accident.

A thorough search of the wreckage during the morning hours disclosed that no other passengers or members of the railroad crew were buried underneath the debris.

REPORT PROPST WILL BE OUSTED IN FAVOR OF COLUMBUS AGENT

Advocate Of Sane Enforcement May Be
New Choice

By United Press
COLUMBUS, O., March 3.—Semi-official reports in circulation here today said State Dry Inspector S. A. Propst, storm center in Gov. Donahey's investigation of the state prohibition department, will be ousted and that W. D. Jones, of Columbus, will be appointed his successor.

Jones has been connected with the department for four years and is regarded by high state officials as an advocate of "sane liquor law enforcement." In the pre-Volstead days, Jones was connected with the state liquor licensing board.

Governor Donahey refused to confirm or deny the report and did not admit that he intends to oust Propst. The governor likewise refused to discuss rumors that he will permit the Anti-Saloon League to select Propst's successor in the event the latter leaves the department.

The general belief in state circles today, was that the governor will disregard the Anti-Saloon League in any new appointments under consideration.

The Anti-Saloon League was responsible for Propst's appointment and for the naming of Frank Evans of Columbus, whom Propst succeeded. Evans was removed fourteen months ago after the governor had investigated complaints similar to those involving Propst.

Under the present circumstances it was the general opinion that the governor will take the position that the league had two chances to select a man for deputy commissioner and that it is now his turn.

ALLEGED GAMBLER
CAUGHT BY POLICE

CLEVELAND, March 3.—George P. Himmelstein, former owner of the Grand Fraternity Club, Mayfield Heights, was arrested today charged with exhibiting "gambling devices," as a result of a raid late yesterday on his new gambling resort, the West Lake Club, which occurred a few hours after operations of the club had been exposed.

Himmelstein's Grand Fraternity Club was closed several weeks ago along with other gambling houses in Cuyahoga County after H. H. Hershey, Lancaster, Pa., embezzler, is said to have lost $40,000 over the tables.

Himmelstein was found in bed at his home here by Cleveland detectives who made the arrest on a warrant sworn to by Lorain County officials.

Himmelstein will be arraigned late today. Alex "Yankee" Goldstein and Vic E. Miller, who were taken into custody at the time of the raid, are at liberty under $1,000 bonds. Goldstein and Miller pleaded not guilty and will be given a hearing tomorrow.

WEST VIRGINIA IS WINNER OF HONORS

INDIANAPOLIS, March 3.—First honors in the annual membership contest of the American Legion today went to the West Virginia Department.

The state finished 1925 with a membership 20 per cent greater than the quota fixed for the year. Idaho was second and Florida third in the contest.

WHO SAID FAT?
BOSTON, March 3.—G. Everett Stackpole, who by virtue of his 400 pounds, holds the office of secretary in the U. S. Fat Men's Club, failed to appear for the club's monthly meeting here.

It was the first meeting he had missed and other members, alarmed, phoned his home in Stoneham.

"What's the matter, sick?" Stackpole was asked.

"No."

"Somebody in the family sick?"

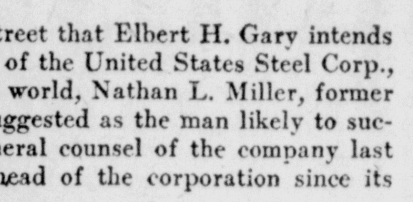

"No, there's nobody here to tie my shoes, I can't reach 'em or anybody's near them myself and I won't come with my shoes untied."

BURNS TO DEATH

PONTIAC, Mich., March 3.—Selim Dervisk, 28, was burned to death and one man was severely injured by fire of undetermined origin, which early today destroyed the Green Beach Hotel, a two story frame structure here. The injured man is Angles Curtico.

Elbert H. Gary.

Nathan L. Miller.

With rumors afloat in Wall Street that Elbert H. Gary intends to resign as chairman of the board of the United States Steel Corp., largest industrial enterprise in the world, Nathan L. Miller, former governor of New York, is being suggested as the man likely to succeed him. Mr. Miller became general counsel of the company last November. Mr. Gary has been head of the corporation since its organization 25 years ago.

COURT RULES ON STATUS OF ACCOUNT

COLUMBUS, March 3.—When two persons open a joint account with a bank, stipulating that both may draw on the fund, the balance reverts to the survivor upon the death of the second contracting party, the supreme court ruled today.

The decision came in the case of Harry R. Scobie as administrator in the estate of Jerome Green to obtain from the Cleveland Trust Company, a balance left in the bank on Green's death. Green and his sister had opened the joint account.

The court ruled in effect that the balance did not revert to Green's estate, as Scobie claimed, the money becoming the property of Green's sister.

ALFONSO WILL NOT TAKE PLANE TRIP

MADRID, March 3.—If King Alfonso visits South America he will travel by steamer and not by airplane.

The United Press was authoritatively informed that the story appearing in the Paris Journal to the effect that Alfonso, Queen Victoria, Premier Prima Delivers and several ministers would cross the Atlantic by air in ten hydroplanes led by commander Ramon Franco had no foundation of fact.

CLOSE OHIO MINE

SALINVILLE, O., March 3.—The Grant Coal Company mine, two miles east of here, has been closed. The company claims it has been losing money, being unable to compete with non-union mines.

The company, with headquarters in Cleveland, has just installed two loading machines at a cost of $10,000. These, with other equipment, were brought out of the mine and put into storage.

About 100 men are affected by the closing.

PROGRESS IN PROBE OF MURDER AT STANDSTILL

Grand Jury Will Not Meet This Week—Report Solution Will Shake Troy Social Circles—
No New Developments

TROY, O., March 3.—No noticeable progress was made today as authorities and special investigators resumed their probe of the brutal murder of Mrs. Frances Drake Nesbitt, former Ohio State University tennis champion.

The now famous murder mystery, outwardly, appeared no nearer solution than on the day Jacob Nesbitt found his wife's bruised body, her head bearing deep lacerations, in the bathtub at their home.

"The grand jury will not be called this week," Prosecutor Leonard Harvey said today. "It may never be called," he added speculatively.

"This does not mean that the investigators do not know who the slayer is," Harvey intimated.

Report is going the rounds today saying the murder involved members of Troy's socially elite. Special Prosecutor A. B. Campbell, was carrying on a line of investigation today, it was said, that may yield results. Campbell refused to discuss the case other than to say they were "stalling."

Drake today again recounted the story of Jacob Nesbitt's finding of his wife's body, bringing out no new angles except that both he and his wife and Nesbitt had some premonition of an impending tragedy. Nesbitt was almost prostrated by his wife's death, Drake said.

Detective James Woodward, former Dayton police chief, has not decided whether to come into the case. The employment of Woodward has been opposed on grounds of "harmony."

"It is a poor public official, who will allow prejudice stand in the way of bringing about an arrest in this case," Drake declared.

As the investigation continued today it appeared to be a case of watchful waiting.

SETTLEMENT MAY END DANCING WAR

ADA, O., March 3.—(UP)—A settlement, although in the distant future, appeared imminent today in the dispute at Ohio Northern University in which more than 250 students threatened to strike in protest against the ban on dancing.

In an address before the student body in chapel, D. H. Bailey, vice president of Ohio Northern, urged the students to present their views and reasons for alterations of the institution's rules governing social functions, at the next meeting of the board of trustees on May 22.

After the address the students who paraded through the streets in protest against the ban, held group conferences and it was indicated that Bailey's suggestion will be given serious consideration.

Poland Demands
Seat in Council

WARSAW, March 3.—The Polish diet today ratified the Locarno treaty and simultaneously gave unanimous approval to a resolution demanding a permanent seat for Poland on the league of nations council.

OHIO WESLEYAN HAS ALUMNUS
DESCENDED FROM OLD KING TUT

President Of Evanston College Traced By Antiquarian To Relationship With Royal Egyptian Ruler.

DELAWARE, O., March 3.—Ohio Wesleyan University boasts one alumnus who claims to be a descendant of King Tut Ankhmen. Alfred F. Hughes, former president of this city and now president of Evansville, Ind., College, recently learned that this distinction probably is his.

A Connecticut antiquarian recently traced Abraham Lincoln's ancestry through his mother, Nancy Hanks back to King Tut. Nancy Hanks had a sister, Peggy Hanks, who was the great, great grandmother of Doctor Hughes.

The learned gentleman from Connecticut explains that when Caesar invaded Britain in 55 B. C. he was accompanied by many Egyptian soldiers including a certain nobleman named Ankh, a direct descendant of King Tut Ankh decided to stay there but his Amen, Ankh liked England and name, due to characteristics of English pronunciation became Hank and later Hanks, the ancestral name of Nancy Hanks.

Doctor Hughes holds a bachelor of arts, master of arts and doctor of divinity degrees from Ohio Wesleyan University and was at one time pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Shawnee, Portsmouth and Columbus.

FORMS CABINET

OSLO, Norway, March 3.—The right leader, Lykke, President of the parliament today formed a cabinet.

Off on New Hunt for Earliest Man

Roy Chapman Andrews, New Yorker, who recently returned from China, is preparing to return to Mongolia to seek more evidence of man's origin in the country which has produced the dinosaur's eggs, the bones of the baluchitherium, the largest animal known to have lived, and scores of new species of animals and reptiles.

ACTIVE TRADING IS EXPECTED TO BREAK
RECORDS WEDNESDAY

Blocking of Rail Merger
Has Effect on Market.

By United Press
NEW YORK, March 3.—Trading on the stock exchange opened today with such volume that tickers were swamped in initial transactions.

A flood of over-night selling orders, together with evidences of strong buying support, resulted in the trading of 325,000 shares in the first fifteen minutes.

At this rate total volume would be 650,000 or twice as much as the record day's business.

The market was decidedly irregular. Brokers, anxiously watching the railroad stocks, saw varying tendencies. Chesapeake and Ohio, a leading unit in the proposed Van Sweringen merger, which was frowned upon yesterday by the Interstate Commerce Commission, was up 2 3/4 at 116. Other rails, however, suffered material drops. The C. & O. opposed the merger.

NEW YORK, March 3.—Many followers of financial affairs believed today would furnish the test to determine just how far the present decline on the New York Stock Market is going.

Brokers' clerks worked far into the night straightening out the books as a result of yesterday's night closing when records for sales which have stood for years were broken in the final hour.

Effect of the Interstate Commerce Commission's adverse decision on the Nickel Plate railroad merger was expected to show its influence on today's market, coupled with apparent general downward trend.

Just where yesterday's market left many traders was indefinite today but it was known that brokers had closed numbers of margin accounts, selling the stocks involved "at the market" when the customers could not cover additional margin. This had left many customers owing brokers substantial sums, but the brokers thought much of it would be collected.

Study of yesterday's market figures brings out these facts:
Declines ranged from five to 18 points on the stock exchange and from 5 to 33 1/2 points on the curb.

The average drop of industrial stocks was 4 1/2 points, and of railroad 1.99.

The average drop of all stocks was 3.25.

Isolated trades in during the day totaled 625—the largest number ever affected in a single day on the market.

Total sales yesterday were 2,075,000 shares—the sixth time in history a day has gone over the three million mark. Transactions in the last hours were 1,439,000 shares, a figure which would in itself be considered a satisfactory normal day's business. As the market followers looked back over the day's developments there was widespread rumor that some one had made an extraordinary guess as to the decision the Interstate Commerce Commission would make—and did make half an hour after the market closed—on the Nickel Plate Railroad merger. Washington dispatches quoted officials scoffing at any idea of a "leak" while there was no confirmation of any such reports, every one maintaining that any anticipation on the decision, was merely the result of good application of logical reasoning—or guessing.

WAR DEPARTMENT
ASKS AIR PROGRAM

WASHINGTON, March 3.—The War Department today recommended to Congress a five year aviation program providing a force of 16,650 men with 2,200 planes.

Increased expenditures of $150,000,000 are entailed.

Secretary of War Davis in an adverse report to the house military committee on the James bill, embodying the ten year Lassiter program, supported the Morrow board suggestion of a five year program.

SEE RESIGNATION

MEXICO CITY, March 3 (UP)—Many Americans predict the early resignation of U. S. Ambassador James R. Sheffield owing to the activities of U. S. special claims commissioners Warren and Payne whose conferences are regarded as encroaching on the Ambassador's functions.

MRS. SCOTT GIVEN ABSOLUTE DECREE

DETROIT, March 3.—The final chapter in the sensational divorce suit involving Congressman and Mrs. Frank D. Scott, of Michigan, has been written here with granting of an absolute decree to Mrs. Scott on grounds of desertion.

Settlement of the suit was in marked contrast to the original action started by Scott at his home in Alpena late in 1921, when alleged scandal in official Washington featured his unsuccessful efforts for separation.

Scott filed no answer to his wife's suit and though represented left uncontested her allegation of desertion, March 23, 1922. Counsel for Mrs. Scott announced a property settlement satisfactory to his client was effected out of court.

ADDITIONAL CHARGES MAY BE FILED AGAINST DRY OFFICERS

Constables Earl Severs and J. W. Sidwell, Van Buren Twp., Montgomery County, and State Probation Inspector J. E. Watts are each at liberty under $1,000 bond each, pending Greene County grand jury action on charges of shooting with intent to wound, filed against the raiders by Theodore Mullins, 17, of near Osborn.

The trio waived preliminary hearing at Osborn Tuesday and was bound over to the grand jury by Mayor Harry Frahn.

Charges filed by Mullins are the outgrowth of a raid at Osborn in February in which it is alleged Mullins was shot at thirteen times and wounded twice in his arm, not seriously.

Cortez M. Smith, real estate agent, 135 Salem Ave., Dayton, is expected to be the chief witness for the prosecution before the grand jury.

Smith declared at the hearing Tuesday he is owner of the property on which Mullins and George Fitzgerald live in Osborn, and was present when the shooting took place. He substantiated Mullins' charges. He further alleged the dry raiders were without a search warrant when they entered the Mullins' home and found a quantity of liquor in Fitzgerald's room. He also claims officers found no trace of liquor in the house.

Fitzgerald is in the County Jail serving out a fine of $500 and costs imposed for possessing liquor. Whiskey was introduced as evidence against him, it is said. It is hinted that officers may have to face an additional charge of searching without a warrant if investigation bears out Smith's accusations.

Mullins was arrested several days ago on a warrant filed by John Powell, state prohibition officer, who charges him with being partial owner of alleged liquor found by the constables and state agent during the February raid in Osborn. He will be given a preliminary hearing before R. O. Copey, justice of the peace, Xenia, March 12. It was continued from March 4.

WILSON GALLOWAY TO HEAD RED CROSS; REV. TILFORD DECLINES

The Rev. W. H. Tilford, Xenia, who has served as chairman of the Greene County Red Cross, since 1922, declined re-election at the annual meeting of the executive board, in assembly room, Court House, Tuesday afternoon. Wilson W. Galloway, of the Hagar Straw Board and Paper Co., Cedarville, was elected to fill the office of chairman. Mr. Galloway has served for some time on the executive board. He is well-known throughout the county and has taken considerable interest in Red Cross work. Mrs. Allen C. Swinnerton, Yellow Springs, was re-elected recording secretary and George Geyer, Xenia, was re-elected treasurer. Frederick Anderson was elected as another member of the board.

The Rev. Mr. Tilford was given a vote of thanks for his untiring and efficient service during the years he was in office. A number of board members individually expressed their appreciation of his work.

The executive board elects its own officers. Nineteen were present from different parts of the county. Reports were received from Miss Margaret Wead, secretary and Miss Helen Evers, public health nurse.

According to Miss Wead's report, 191 calls were received at the office during February; fifty-three of this number being from ex-soldiers. Twelve new cases were cared for and seventy-three old cases were under Red Cross care.

Miss Evers made 115 calls during the month, with ten nursing visits, fifty-four for instruction or demonstration, thirty-six miscellaneous and fifteen to schools. She cared for twenty-seven new cases and twenty-one medical cases. Remainder of the reports concerned routine work.

IF HAIR IS DRY
BLAME CONSTANT
CURLING, WAVING

Girls just must curl and wave bobbed hair to appear their prettiest. But constant curling and waving burn and dry the luster, vitality and very life from the hair. To offset these bad effects, just get a 35-cent bottle of delightful, refreshing "Danderine" at any drug store or toilet counter and just see for yourself how quickly it revives dry, brittle, lifeless, and fading hair.

"Danderine" is a dependable tonic and will do wonders for any girl's hair. It nourishes, stimulates and strengthens each single hair, bringing back that youthful gleam, glint and vigorous luxuriance. Falling hair stops and dandruff disappears. "Danderine" is pleasant and easy to use.—Adv.

FASCIST IGNORE CHARGES OF ROSSI

ROME, March 3.—The fascist government announced today that it is indifferent to the charges brought against it by General Cesare Rossi, former Chief of Premier Mussolini's publicity department, who has escaped to France. Rossi could have been kept in Italy, but was permitted to escape, it was said.

The government feels itself to be too strong to be subject to inquiry by the words of Rossi.

THEY'RE NOT ALONE

THE Italian state lottery has furnished an instance of credulity multiplied by two. Not only did millions consider the lottery a good investment, but thousands of that number placed a childlike faith in the power of an ignorant peasant to foretell the winning numbers. Of course the whole episode finished up with the "unlucky" gamblers questioning the honesty of the game and swearing to take the life of the fortune teller in revenge for his "betrayal" of them.

Those who have lost their sense of humor under like conditions were more amused than irritated by the anger of the Italians who thus submitted to a double fleeing. Certainly there are many in this country who are not qualified to "throw the first stone" at the Romans.

Although there is no state lottery in this country and lottery is forbidden in most states there is probably more money lost on lottery tickets in the enlightened United States than on the Italian "boot." And while there is no exact parallel here to the peasant-dopester incident, there is little difference between his trusting devotees and the hundreds of thousands of Americans who are regular subscribers to the "tip" sheets and service of the "pony prophets" who guarantee to pick the winning horse. To this same class belong the millions who may the "divestments" of the fellow who tells fortunes with wildcat stocks.

WHAT TEMPERAMENT DOES.

SENATOR BORAH and Senator James Reed are stumping the country warning the people against the world court, and against any plan of participation on the part of this country in the affairs of other countries.

One of the objections to the World court program as Senator Borah and Senator Reed see it is that sentimentalists and temperamentalists are leading us in.

All this may be so, in part.

The fact is, however, that sentiment and temperament work both ways.

Borah and Reed, who think we should not work with other nations, are two outstanding examples in the senate, of inability and unwillingness to work with other men.

This may have as much to do with their ideas about a World court as love and affection and a belief in the good fairies have to do with other people's belief in the court.

Senator Borah's leadership in the senate is not in proportion to his great talents, because of his election to play a lone hand. Senator Reed is notably an individualist.

The advice which would lead this country into unqualified international relations is, of course, unsound. The advice of Borah and Reed must also be discounted by the temperament in which it originates.

COST OF GOVERNMENT

COST of federal, state and municipal government in the United States shows a grand total of $10,252,000,000 for the year 1924, compared to $2,919,000,000 for the year 1913.

These statistical facts are compiled from the official records of government, by the National Industrial Conference Board.

A more vital fact is also shown in the decrease of $385,000,000 or 10.6 per cent in federal expenditures for 1924, while state and local governments increased their expense by $492,000,000, or 7.6 per cent.

In spite of the large reductions possible by the federal government in lopping off war expenditures, due to state and local extravagance there was a net increase for 1924 of $107,000,000.

The problem presented by a steady increase in state and municipal tax rates concerns every individual, whether or not he is a property owner.

High cost of government contributes directly as must be admitted, to the high cost of living generally.

In the practice of greater economy in the cost of government the beginning must be at the top, working downward—rather than at the bottom, working upward.

GROWTH OF CHRISTIANITY

THE religious controversy between the modernists and fundamentalists precipitated vague reports that the church-going population was in rapid decline. That the contrary is true is not known better than by the millions of church members in the United States.

An eastern clergyman discloses that at the time of the American Revolution there was only one professed Christian in Princeton University and two in Harvard University. Today nine-tenths of the university and college students of both sexes are members of some Christian church.

Diminishing church rolls are almost unknown in the United States, while millions of dollars are expended annually for new church edifices in the cities, towns and rural sections of the country. Every denomination is annually reporting increased national memberships.

Evidence of the stability of the church in America may be found in the general financial status. There has been a decisive increase in the salary standards of the ministry. Church buildings are better maintained and more luxuriously furnished. A few years ago only the most exclusive city churches could afford paid chorists, pipe organs and skilled organists. Today these are not uncommon in the smaller towns and are customary in the smaller cities.

What ever the present ecclesiastical debate may have done for good or evil, it manifestly has not detracted from church attendance.

SALT RISING BREAD

I am sure that all my Column Readers have noticed that we seldom ask for a recipe without receiving it from one of our number. Some time ago I published a request for a Salt Rising Bread recipe. Here it is—mailed to us from a housekeeper-reader who happened to have it. I am especially delighted to print this recipe because it gives exact measurements. So many women, for that matter, need "just how" to make a thing—exact measurements, exact time of baking, how hot an oven, etcetera. I believe that the following recipe will be tried out by many of our number. As it calls for no yeast cake, it will be handy to turn to when we forget to order yeast from our grocer.

"Salt Rising Bread: Ingredients: One cup of sweet milk, two teaspoons of granulated sugar, one cup of corn meal, one teaspoon of salt, two cups of luke-warm water, seven cups of white flour, one-half cup of additional white flour for kneading.

Method: Scald the milk and sugar; stand this mixture in a warm place for several hours or over night, when it should be light. To this add the warm water and flour enough (of the seven cups called for) to make a batter the consistency of drop-batter; stand this in a warm place till it is light, and then add the remainder of the flour, so as to make a dough which is stiff enough to knead. Allow this dough to rise, then shape it into two loaves. Place the loaves in two oiled bread pans, and let rise once more, till doubled in bulk.

Bake like any white bread, about 50 minutes in a medium-hot oven. If you use a Fahrenheit oven thermometer, have the mercury at about 350 to 375 degrees.

It is very important that the first mixture of cornmeal, salt, sugar and milk (which acts in place of yeast) be kept at a uniformly warm temperature while it becomes light, in order to induce the bacteria to grow."—Mrs. B. S.

When baked, the tops of the loaves may be brushed with a little melted butter to keep them from having too hard a crust. Many housewives keep a small paint brush on hand for this purpose.

BONE CAVE

Probably one of the most famous caves in the county is Bone Cave near Yellow Springs, discovered by the late Jesse Taylor, October 19, 1878.

It is located on the old Neff farm about half a mile from the village, and 200 yards from the large spring known as Yellow Spring.

The cave extends back into the rock for a total distance of about fourteen feet and the ceiling is not sufficiently high at any point to admit of a person standing upright. When found, the entrance was four feet high, three feet wide and faced south.

Taylor made an investigation of the cave the same week he discovered it, and because of the several different kinds of bones found there, it has since been known as Bone Cave.

Cave contained two human skulls, arm and leg bones of small children and several human teeth. Bones of opossums, minks, porcupines, woodchucks, rattlesnakes,

8,549,511 Working Women in United States

MRS. W. M. BAILEY

Many Say Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helps Keep Them Fit to Work

8,549,511 women would be a vast army. According to the 1920 Census of Manufactures, that is the number of women and girls employed in all trades in the United States.

Napoleon said, "An army travels on its stomach." This army of women travels on its general health. Every working girl knows that time lost through illness seldom is paid for and seldom can be made up. Employers demand regularity. If she wants to keep her job or hopes for a better one, she must guard her health.

Atlanta, Ga.—"My system was weak and run-down, and I was tired. I was this way for five years or more. I read your advertisement in the papers and I decided to try your medicine, the Vegetable Compound, but I did not begin to take it regularly until after I was married. I got so much good from it that I feel fine and have gained in weight. I work in a broom shop, but my work is not so hard on me now, and I keep my own house, and work my garden, too. I am telling all my friends of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and how it has helped me."—Mrs. W. M. BAILEY, R. F. D. No. 5, Box 27, Atlanta, Georgia.

Missouri Woman Helped

Parkville, Mo.—"I am proud to recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was so ill that I could not lie down at night. Then I got my husband to go to the store and buy me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I was up and about before the first bottle was around before I only weighed about ninety pounds. I took six or eight bottles and was able to do all my housework, washing and ironing, take care of my five boys, and tend to my chickens and garden, where I had to hire my washing and part of my housework."—Mrs. ANNA COLE, R. Today's Talk

GO ON!
Many lives are dissipated early in the game by energy half worked up and then discarded.

This world is filled with half finished lives—lives with good and bad foundations and incomplete interiors and upper stories. A finisher is really a rare article among human beings. But when you find one, you view a leader—a full grown man.

We all get discouraged. The bigger a man is and the greater the ability and aim and ambition, of course, the larger responsibilities involved. And to such come days and nights of restless and disconcerting thoughts—moments of travail and soul distress. But this is well. If it were not so there would be no great builders, no giants among the pigmies.

And the nice thing about it all is that there is a great God somewhere that stands behind the builder, behind the dreamer, the man of faith and courage—and somehow sees him through.

A SONG.

Oh, it's home when the tasks are all done,
It is home to the loved ones, and rest;
It is home, with the set of the sun
To the place that is brightest and best.
A light in the eye
And a kiss for the lip
And a cure for the sigh
At the end of the trip.

Oh, it's home when the shadows grow long,
It is home when the sun's in the west,
It is home where they wait with a song,
And the laughter is sweetest and best;
Where, falter and slip
As I frequently may,
There's a kiss for the lip
At the end of the day.

Oh, it's home where the windows are bright
With a welcoming light which I know!
And though stormy and dark be the night,
It is home, where no storms ever blow!
And though weary the trip
And though heavy the load,
There's a kiss for the lip
At the end of the road.

During the years there has been a little motto that has helped me greatly. I have never seen it, but I have felt it. There are only two words to it. Here they are: Go on!

I give it to you—GO ON!
Heaven knows there are enough things to trouble and clog the way, but to him who has faith and courage, there are really no obstacles that cannot be brushed away or climbed over, or dug through.

Go on.
Never mind the knockers. You will find them everywhere. There are destroyers in this world, I believe, so that real men of constructive force and vision may be tried to their limit and made substantial factors in making this world better than it was when they found it.

And that's what we must all be doing—no matter what our job—making the world more fit and free and beautiful and happy and livable.

MODISH MITZI—The Goofy Does Some Home Work By JAY V. JAY

ATTENTION TO DETAILS WILL BRING SUCCESS!

The Goofy is now about to give the supernatural a chance to make good. Since the only details in which Mitzi could be interested are the details of new styles the Goofy is memorizing those that are most Mitzi-like. French handbags of blue leather trimmed with lizard and of brown calf stamped in green—

Odd shapes to collars on the new spring wraps, small hats with higher crowns, some few with narrow brims, festoon necklaces are smartest, sleeves are the most interesting features of spring gowns, many of them being trimmed with ruffles, lace, ostrich feathers, ribbons and colored buttons.

It was—the Goofy would not deny it—a terrible ordeal, but now when he can tell Mitzi how charming she looks and how well the new mode for capes becomes her, when she can expatiate on the subject of leg-of-mutton sleeves—well! "It's so nice to talk to someone really intelligent," says Mitzi!

YELLOW SPRINGS HIGH GIRLS WIN EASILY FROM CAESARCREEK

Yellow Springs High girls' basketball team closed its season in the Greene County Basketball Association League with an easy 31 to 21 win over Caesar Creek girls at Caesar Creek in a postponed game Tuesday night.

Yellow Springs boys bettered their position in the league by defeating Caesar Creek 31 to 13 to make the victory a double one.

By virtue of beating Caesar Creek the Yellow Springs sextet won the official championship in the girls' loop, ending the schedule with an unbroken record of nine victories.

Yellow Springs boys will play the O. S. and S. O. Home team at Yellow Springs Saturday night in a second postponed game and give a chance to forge ahead in the league standing.

The Home girls' team recently disbanded and automatically forfeits its game with Yellow Springs, it is said. The Yellow Springs lassies will meet Springfield High girls in the preliminary Saturday night.

ST. MARYS HIGH WINS HANDILY FROM ST. BRIGIDS HIGH FIVE

Displaying a dazzling floor game and uncanny shooting ability, St. Marys High, Urbana, walked away with its game with St. Brigid's High, this city, by a score of 32 to 16 Tuesday night at Central High School gym.

St. Marys' passwork was almost letter perfect and combining this with accurate shooting, especially in the second half, the visitors were never seriously threatened and rang up an easy win.

St. Brigid's was less proficient in the respect of defense and offense and was the victim of a superior basketball team. Locals played a sturdy game the first half holding their opponents to a 10 to 4 margin but were completely outclassed the final periods.

St. Marys' basketballers were deadly from mid-floor and a majority of their baskets were of the long range variety.

The Xenia parochial quintet showed flashes of good form but defeat may be partially attributed to failure to maintain a consistent attack.

St. Marys' attack was centered around Bianchi and Ruzetti, the former making four fielders while the stocky forward bulged the strings on seven occasions for eleven points.

Cain and Killeen showed up perhaps the best for the losers from

FUNDAMENTALS OF EDUCATION GIVEN BY SPEAKER HERE

Details of the operation of Moraine Park School, Dayton, were given by F. D. Slutz, principal, in an address before students of Central High School, parents and teachers, in Jean B. Elwell Auditorium, Tuesday afternoon.

He described history of the school, from the time it was housed in a green house until the present when it is operated under a governing plan of its own and is one of the model schools of the country. He gave different details of the curriculum and the standard expected of the pupils.

Ten fundamentals in correct instruction of boys and girls are: body - building, spirit - building, thought expression, neighboring, society-serving, mate-seeking, life refreshing, wealth-production, opinion formation and truth.

Mr. Slutz, who is well known as an interesting speaker, was introduced by Spencer Shank, principal of Central High School. His address was preceded by cello and piano music by the Misses Lois and Helen Street.

EIGHT CHILDREN AT KIWANIS CLINIC

Eight children were cared for at the Kiwanis-Social Service League clinic at headquarters of the latter organization, Tuesday afternoon.

Annual attendance at the monthly clinic was decreased on account of a number of whooping cough cases in the city. Mrs. H. A. Hoffman and Miss Jennie Moffett were in charge of the clinic.

DOG POPULATION IS DECREASING

Through the efforts of Deputy Sheriff George Spencer, acting in his official capacity as county dog catcher, assisted by Patrolman Ed Craig, the county's canine population is gradually declining.

Tagless dogs, homeless dogs, and female canines not having proper surgical treatment are being rounded up by the officers.

Police Chief M. E. Graham warns owners of a city ordinance forbidding female dogs to run at large in the city without first having proper surgical treatment.

BRITISH SOCIAL EXPERIMENT PROVES WORTH DURING WINTER

LONDON, March 3.—Great Britain is pointing with pride, after a particularly critical period of hard times and severe winter weather, at its several regulations of compulsory insurance for workers, and other schemes for the relief of the unemployed.

There has been considerable suffering, especially in the shipping districts, but nothing compared to the distress that would have resulted without the far-reaching mutual benefit measures which constitute a vast sociological experiment in government never before attempted by any nation.

Three distinct compulsory insurance laws are now operating successfully to safeguard the welfare of workers. They are Unemployment Insurance, National Health Insurance and Old Age Pensions. Another measure is the Poor Law Relief, but this is controlled by local district councils and amounts to charity to the poor out of the local rates, which are quite apart from state taxes.

In addition, there is the Unemployment Grants Commission, under which state funds are allotted to local authorities for the development of roads, railroads, canals, viaducts and other utilities which will provide work for the jobless and ameliorate the pressure of hard times.

Another effort is the Trade Facilities Account. With this the Government undertakes to assist the extension of export trade by advancing capital to private enterprise which otherwise would be unable to make progress. This indirectly relieves the depression.

All these schemes merge into the policy which has three aims: first, help by insurance; second, help by direct relief for anticipated works. This is Britain's fight to come back.

The insurance measures have established funds from which benefits are paid as by any privately controlled insurance company. Under the Unemployment Insurance law workers earning less than 250 pounds a year must pay four and a half pence (about nine cents) a week when they are working and the employers must pay five pence. There are now 11,500,000 contributors to the fund. The Health and Pensions measures are now combined, in respect to payments. Employers must pay ten pence a week and workers eight pence. If the worker earns less than three shillings a day the employer must pay a larger rate and the worker a smaller rate, which amounts to the same total. Workers who fall sick collect benefits while they are incapacitated. The Pensions Act is comparatively new, but the fund is growing and will in time be a blessing to those who have to retire from active work.

The Poor Law Relief is a measure passed under Queen Elizabeth to relieve the poor. It is now severely criticized because, under district supervision, it does not operate equitably. In a poor district the rates are higher and the benefits less than in a high class residential district. In some sections the payments are as high as 25 shillings a week for a man, and proportionate payments for his wife and children. This act is largely responsible for criticism of the so-called dole system. Families may collect unemployment insurance, sick benefits and local Poor Law Relief which together might total more than the man's ordinary wages would be if he were working. In such cases there might well be little incentive to get back to work.

Under the Trade Facilities Act,

11,000 schemes requiring 90,000,000 pounds, have been approved since 1920, and under the Grants Commission public works and improvements have been realized that otherwise might have been delayed for years.

A Greater Miami Valley

Industry Plays an Important Part in Cedarville's Progress

JUNE 29, 1816, Jesse and William Newport recorded the land for Cedarville. In the same year the first church was erected. John Paris had the first postoffice in his store. John Paris built the first house in 1836.

The first private school was built in 1850 by James Turnbull. In 1856 the first free school was opened. The first newspaper, "Enterprise," was brought out by H. M. Northup in 1877. The Opera House owned jointly by the town and the township, contains Mayor D. H. McFarland's office, and operated in 1848.

Cedarville was incorporated in 1887 and opened Cedarville College was chartered in 1887 and opened in 1894. Rev. Wilbert R. McChesney, Ph.D., D.D., has been pastor since 1915.

The farming community of Cedarville today is made up of 1,200 inhabitants, 70% of whom own their own homes. There are 450 homes. Five hundred students attend the consolidated school. There are 14 teachers. Professor Oxley is superintendent.

George Rife is president and Mr. West cashier of the Cedarville Exchange Bank, and Andrew Jackson, a descendant of "Old Hickory" Jackson, is secretary and manages the Cedarville Building and Loan Association.

The Hagar Strawboard and Paper Company, with the Abel Magnolia Company, stone quarry and lime products, managed by Carter Able and the Cedarville Lumber Company, managed by Auel Wright with Harvey Thomas, president, are the principle industries.

Besides the general merchandise store of Robert Bird and Sons and Company, there are groceries operated by Chris Masters, Willard Tronte, B. H. Little, Reed Pringle, Chris Masters, a drug store by A. E. Richard, hardware stores by Charles Stucker and Son, and A. E. Huey, and "Service Hardware" managed by Mr. Gordon. Hayes Bates operates a meat market, as does Reed Pringle in connection with his grocery. J. W. Johnson runs the jewelry store. Bakeries are operated by Jacob Sigler and Perry Gillalan.

The association of Cedarville with Dayton and Rike-Kumler is something of which both may be proud.

If these brief accounts of the founding, early struggles and later accomplishments of these Miami Valley towns stir their neighbors to a greater spirit of friendly cooperation, The Rike-Kumler Co. will feel well repaid and deeply gratified.

The Spirit of Waynesville Today is Building for Tomorrow—

WAYNESVILLE was laid out in 1796 by the government and in 1797 Samuel Heighway built the first log cabin there. In 1803 the citizens almost unanimously agreed on Waynesville, commemorating the name of General "Mad Anthony" Wayne whose daring in quelling the uprising of the Indians had been so successful. A post office was established in 1804.

Wright's flour mill, erected in 1828 and today operated by C. M. Robitzer, is one of the very few mills still run by water power. This mill and the covered bridge erected across the Little Miami in 1820 are cherished landmarks.

The Miami Gazette, a very modern and progressive newspaper, edited by D. L. Crane, is the outgrowth of the Miami Visitor, which was founded in 1846 by J. W. Roberts. In 1808 the first "pay" schools were founded. Miss Jesse Buttermore and Samuel Scott were the first teachers. Today Waynesville has a fine high and grade school with 18 teachers for the 527 students. F. R. Moomaw is superintendent.

The present population of Waynesville is 620. There are 350 homes of which 85% are self-owned. Here is located the only normal school in the county.

The Waynesville National Bank, incorporated for $100,000. W. H. Allen is president and L. M. Henderson cashier. The New Century Club, of which Mrs. J. W. Ward is president; the Farmers Club with S. S. Ellis, president, and the Campfire Girls Troop which Mrs. F. R. Moomaw heads all contribute to the betterment of the community. The Mothers Club is headed by Mrs. Vern Armitage. T. E. Rogers is the mayor.

Meyer Hyman's Dry Goods Store and the Waynesville Packing Company, managed by H. G. Welles, are two outstanding Waynesville developments.

The spirit of friendliness and helpfulness which pervades this community is reason enough for its continued growth and expansion. On every side its progress, in every home the spirit of thrift and advancement. In Rike-Kumler Company is glad of its location in a city so near Waynesville—glad to tell of its development.

Not Even a Cyclone Could Deter Jamestown From Succeeding—

JAMESTOWN was originally platted by Thomas Browder and Martin Mendenhall on May 31, 1816. The name was given by Browder who had come from Jamestown, Virginia.

Jamestown was incorporated in 1849 by S. T. Owens. The second brick school, the oldest building in Jamestown is used today as a blacksmith shop.

In April, 1884, a cyclone struck Jamestown, wiping out half of the village. A relief committee was organized with W. A. Paxson as chairman and work begun rebuilding. The first newspaper was published in 1870 by William Galvin. Today, the Jamestown Journal, of which Mr. J. Ervin Christy is both editor and publisher, is one of the outstanding village papers in the Miami Valley. Its editorial pages, its makeup and policies are excellent.

Jamestown's present population is 1,300. There are 450 homes of which 90% are self owned. The Ross Township Centralized School has in attendance 400 students, with 10 teachers, under Superintendent J. W. Gowdy.

Besides the Farmers and Traders National Bank, incorporated for $50,000, and founded about 1860, by Mr. Syler, who continued as its president until his death, there is the Peoples National Bank, incorporated for $21,000 of which W. W. Johnson is president and George Spahr, cashier. Robert Zimmerman is now president and R. J. Moorman, cashier of the Farmers and Traders National Bank.

Dr. F. W. Ogan is the mayor.

In the dry goods field, the W. E. Reid Store and that of L. S. Farquhar are representative. Besides these there are groceries, variety, jewelry and hardware stores. The Venard Theater is owned by David Venard. The Jamestown Canning Company operates in season.

The manner in which Jamestown attacked its rehabilitation problem when the cyclone of 1884 struck it is the way in which it has surmounted every obstacle presented to it. The Rike-Kumler Company wishes to take this opportunity to pay a tribute to the initiative and determination which has marked its every endeavor.

Wilmington—Prominent in Education —in Industry—in Accomplishment

WILMINGTON was chosen the county seat in 1803 and laid out in 1810. David Faulkner and Joseph Doan were the donors of the land. Isaiah Morris was the first mayor and first postmaster in 1828.

Subscription school was held in 1810-12 by Isaac Garretson in a log cabin erected by Mr. Doan. A high school was built in 1911 and a junior high in 1923. Its schools today instruct 1,030 students through 97 teachers. L. K. Probascio is superintendent.

The True American, the first newspaper, was published in 1814. The Herald of 1915, was bought by W. J. Galvin, of Jamestown, and changed to Wilmington Daily News. The Democrat, of 1880, is a weekly. R. Kenneth Kerr is business manager.

Wilmington is a manufacturing center for furnaces, auger bits and like machinery. The $400,000 Irvin Auger Bit Co., of which J. W. Denver is president, is the largest organization of its kind in the world. The Farquhar Fur-nace Co., headed by J. R. Cleveland, with Francis H. Farquhar sales agent and the Wilmington Casting Co., of which J. F. Goebel is vice president are outstanding industries.

The Clinton National Bank and Trust Co., with a capitalization of $400,000 is headed by M. R. Denver with H. G. Hudson, cashier. Denver, Colorado, is named after H. G. Hudson, father, who was one of Ohio's governors. M. R. Denver's father, who was one of Ohio's governors. The First National Bank is capitalized for $100,000 with A. J. Wilson, president and C. H. Vandervort, cashier. M. R. Denver heads the Wilmington Mothers Club. Mrs. Charles Martin is president of the Mothers of the Opera House was donated by C. W. Murphy, of the Chicago Cubs.

Watt and Patterson's Department store is one of the leading stores in the community.

C. A. Holliday owns the oldest log cabin. Wilmington College was started here in 1865 by three brothers, Thomas D., James H. and H. Carson Farvin.

The Rike-Kumler Company can but briefly sum up these things which each one of its 5,500 inhabitants know and are proud of. That it is a fine place to live in is demonstrated by the 1,300 homes. 65% are self-owned.

Bellbrook's First Settler Became One of Ohio's Early Governors

THE village of Bellbrook was first settled by Joseph C. Vance who built a log cabin in 1796. He later became one of Ohio's first governors. The first store was kept in this building by Joseph Gowdy. Here also the first hotel was operated by James Clancey.

At about the same time Nathan Samme one of the very early settlers built a long cabin a little northeast of Bellbrook.

Stephen Bell, James Clancey and Henry Updike laid out the village in 1815 and Bell named it Bellbrook because of the many brooks around this spot. Bellbrook was incorporated in 1832. Henry Updike erected the first flour mill on Little Sugar Creek in 1820.

The first school was built entirely of logs. Greased paper was used for windows. James Pain taught the classes. Today there is a centralized school which was built in 1924 and in which the high school classes are held. The grades are still taught in the old buildings. There are about 150 pupils and 12 teachers. Mr. Weaver is superintendent.

The making of maple sugar was one of the earliest industries. Maple sugar camps were spotted throughout the county.

Bellbrook today has a population of 400 with 100 homes, 85% of which are self owned. Bellbrook is a splendid farming district while general business is the chief occupation.

Oliver Watson, the mayor, has written a number of articles on Bellbrook.

In Bellbrook is the general store of the Dinwiddie-Thomas Company and the hardware store of Raymond Penwit.

The old home of Mrs. Susan Stotzenberger is over 100 years old.

Individually, the capabilities of the men Bellbrook has developed and collectively the spirit it has demonstrated in building up one of the fastest progressing villages in the Miami Valley, makes it a neighbor of which Dayton may well be proud. As proud and as glad as The Rike-Kumler Company is in printing these few brief details of Bellbrook's founding and subsequent development.

HAVE COLOR IN CHEEKS

Be Better Looking—Take
Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound with no harmful effects. You will know them by their olive color.

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects.

They start the bile and overcome constipation. Take one or two night and note the pleasing results. Millions of boxes are sold annually at 15c and 30c.

Pimples

What can I do?

"Oh, why can't I have a skin like other girls? Why do I have to have these ugly pimples, blotches and blackheads?"

"If I could only find something that would clear up my skin and give me back my self, my complexion, I know I would be the happiest girl in the world! What can I do?"

Is that you talking? If it is, you don't have to worry a minute! Just build up the rich, red blood in your body. Then your skin will be as clear and soft as anybody's.

That's what S. S. S. has been doing for generations—helping Nature build rich, red blood! You can build red-blood-cells so fast that the impurities that cause breaking out on the skin hardly get into the system before the pure blood annihilates them—kills them right out—stops them from breaking out through the skin.

And then this rich, red, pure blood feeds and nourishes the tissues of the skin and keeps it looking healthy.

That's all there is to it. Healthy, vigorous red blood such as S. S. S. helps Nature build, makes you healthy all over. It beautifies your skin—drives away pimples, blackheads, blotches, rash, boils and eczema—gives you back your appetite—builds firm, plump flesh and fills you full of new life and energy.

All drug stores sell S. S. S. Get the larger bottle. It's more economical.

S.S.S.

Xenia is one of the Most Progressive Towns in Miami Valley

JOHN AND JAMES STEPHANSON were the first settlers. From Joseph Vance they secured land and built their cabin in 1797. John Paul, Xenia's first director, donated all the land for its public buildings.

Court was held in William Beatty's Tavern until 1807. He succeeded Paul as director. Remembrance Williams erected the first cabin at Robert's Villa in 1800, three years later Joseph Vance laid out Xenia. In 1804, John Marshall built the first cabin inside Xenia's limits. The first postmaster was Reverend Towler; the first teacher, Benjamin Grover. Xenia was incorporated in 1817.

The first log school was erected in 1805.

Today there are 1,800 students in Xenia's four schools. There are 61 teachers under Superintendent C. Pond.

Xenia today has a population of 11,762. This "city of homes" has 3,600 of which 70% are self owned.

Today the R. A. Kelly Twine Factory, the Hooven and Allison Cordage Company, with J. D. Steele, president, and the Xenia Shoe Company, headed by P. H. Flynn, are outstanding industries of the country.

R. S. Kinsberry heads the Citizens National Bank, with M. L. Wolfe, cashier. The Xenia National Bank is presided over by George Little with John A. Nisbet, cashier. Both are incorporated for $100,000.

S. O. Hale is the present City Manager. Jobs Brothers Company and the J. W. Gibney Department Store are the leading stores of Xenia.

The Xenia Gazette is edited by J. A. Chew and the Xenia Herald by Harry E. Rice.

Wilberforce College, near Xenia, recognized as one of the most important negro colleges in America, was founded in 1844, and in 1863 taken over entirely by the colored race.

Xenia's civic spirit and progressiveness and the splendid type of its citizenship give to The Rike-Kumler Company and every citizen of Dayton the thrill of pride in person, of Xenia, last year was chosen by the government Scientists at Paris. He also revised the last edition of Webster's Dictionary.

Spring Valley Was One of the Earliest of Miami Valley Towns

IT was Edward Walton, who in 1806, bought 1,000 acres of land from the Soldiers' Land Military Survey at $3 an acre, who is known today as the founder of Spring Valley. The original map of Spring Valley, laid out by Edward and Moses Walton is now in the hands of John Walton who still resides in the original Walton home, the oldest building in Spring Valley.

In 1815 the Gladly School, the first to be built was erected. In 1845, Moses constructed a warehouse and turned the second story into a school. Later, in 1854, the first brick building was built. In 1869, this was utilized for a school. The first graded school was organized in 1860. Josua Nickerson and Mary Barrett were teachers.

Spring Valley is so named because of the many springs in the valley between the mounds.

C. A. Sollers is the mayor of Spring Valley, which has a population of 443 with 125 homes, 65% of which are owner tenanted. It boasts a township night school and a village school. George W. Drelves, the superintendent reports 200 students and 6 teachers.

One of the finest of small banks is the Spring Valley National Bank, incorporated for $25,000, of which W. C. Smith is president and W. E. Crites, cashier.

EVERYTHING MUST BE PAID FOR DAYTON ATTORNEY STATES

"What is the Cost?" is the most important question to Americans, according to Ellis Legler, Dayton attorney, who addressed Xenia Kiwanians, Tuesday evening.

Everything in our lives requires a payment, even though the payment be deferred, according to the speaker. If one neglects his health he pays the penalty and if he breaks the civil or moral law another type of cost is assessed. Men who neglect their children in their upbringing pay the cost in later years, he declared.

Countess Cathcart, who has been held by immigration authorities from entering America because of "moral turpitude" is making a deferred payment for her elopement with the Earl of Craven, Mr. Legler remarked.

He urged members of his audience to watch their health, home and business. To get the most out of life, he said, it must be taken as a game of checkers, accepting the board as you find it, with all importance placed on one's move.

He illustrated his subject with various incidents, and closed by reciting a well-known poem. The address was enthusiastically received by Kiwanians and their guests, numbering forty-seven.

T. H. Zell announced the inter-city Kiwanis meeting in Cincinnati, March 16 and urged Xenia club members to attend. A similar meeting was held in Xenia last year.

Between $175 and $200 were realized by the club from the welfare show staged at Jean B. Elwell Auditorium, last week, C. A. Bone, announced.

J. A. Adair's committee was in charge of the evening's program.

The Theatre

In the past, European films have been shown only occasionally in America. The new attempts to distribute them have been largely experimental and few of the films shown had been made with an eye to what American audiences wanted.

But German producers in particular have long had their eyes on the American market. Of late they have made a more determined effort to appeal to the American public and American film magnates have decided that

HUNGARIAN MOVIE PRODUCERS ATTACK AMERICAN FILMS

BUDAPEST, March 3.—Hungarian film producers have issued invitations to producers throughout Europe to meet in Budapest for a conference on ways and means to break the semi-monopoly enjoyed by American films in Europe.

In Hungary as well as in most other European countries local producers are finding it next to impossible to meet the keen competition of the American film industry. Half-bankrupt producers, jobless actors, and idle scenery builders are increasingly disturbed by the increasing number of American films shown in their theaters.

The Budapest conference is looked forward to with great interest by laymen as well as by persons interested directly in the trade.

When You Catch Cold Rub on Musterole

Musterole is easy to apply with the fingers and works right away. Often it prevents a cold from turning into "flu" or pneumonia. It does all the good work of grandmother's mustard plaster without the blister.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made of oil of mustard and other home simples. It is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Try Musterole for sore throat, cold on the chest, rheumatism, lumbago, pleurisy, stiff neck, bronchitis, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back and joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bitten feet—colds of all sorts.

been definitely selected for the American market. They are "Vaudeville," "Metropolis," "Faust" and "A Waltz Dream." Xenians are interested in Ufa's productions, since the president of the company, Mr. Kollman, millionaire German film producer, was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Hyman, E. Market St., about a year ago.

When everyone thought, or was at least hoping, that the movie sheik was completely passe, along comes Rudolph Valentino with the idea of resuscitating the character. His next picture, as announced, will be "The Son of the Sheik," written by E. M. Hull, who was also responsible for "The Sheik," in which Rudy achieved such a vogue that he led all the youth of the nation astray, fashionably speaking.

Rudy's recent pictures have not met with great success, and it is thought he is returning to turban, harem skirts and Oriental paraphernalia to win back his old esteem.

Four of Ufa's productions, have Henry Walthall, who won the admiration of thousands by his rendition of the "Little Colonel" in "The Birth of a Nation," is going to have a come-back in "The Unknown Soldier," in which he will be featured by Renaud Hoffman. For a long time, Walthall has been doing supporting parts, and this production means a chance for the renewal of his stardom and he may win one of the big Warfield plays later on.

Though for a long time he has had few consequential parts of play, Walthall's acting has always been of the finest.

George O'Brien, son of Daniel O'Brien, chief of police of San Francisco and Madge Bellamy, whom Penhryn Stanlaws, the artist, said was the most beautiful girl in America, play the leads in "The Iron Horse," which opened a two-day engagement at the Bijou Theater Wednesday. George O'Brien is probably the newest leading man on the screen and his work in the John Ford Production has been a big boost toward his screen success. Gladys Hulette, who has been making pictures so many years she is afraid to tell her age, has an important role in the picture. J. Farrell McDonald is another veteran actor who makes a big hit in a role that adds comedy relief to the picture. ## VAN SWERINGEN MERGER REJECTED

MAGNATES' POLICY OVER OBJECTION IS CAUSING INTEREST

Action Clarifies Government Stand On Con-
solidations

By United Press
WASHINGTON, March 3.—The interstate commerce commission's disapproval of the gigantic Van Sweringen merger, although a staggering blow to the rising railroad magnates has served to clarify government policy toward the huge rail consolidation.

There was much speculation today as to the next step of the Van Sweringens, particularly as to whether they will re-vamp the financial structure of their combine to meet government objections, as officials analyzed the commission's action to discover its basic principles.

Among the things they found were:

1.—That the commission had set its face against minority control of public and semi-public utilities through centering direction in small blocks of voting shares, while majority holdings are in non-voting shares, as provided in the Van Sweringen plan.

2.—That the commission has scrapped its tentative plan, promulgated in 1921, of consolidating the railroads of the country into nine separate systems willing to adopt that plan to the voluntary proposals of railroad operators, where they follow the general public interest.

3.—That all future mergers must take care of weak, short line railroads tributary to major companies in the interests of the community they serve and not be abandoned to their fate when their parent lines are combined. The commission sharply criticized the Van Sweringens for leaving short lines out of consideration.

These three points and the manner in which they were stressed, by the commission do much to clear up the haze surrounding government policy toward rail mergers.

The Cummins bill pending in the senate, which allows the nation's roads a stated period in which to effect voluntary combines probably will be re-drafted, the Senate to incorporate in its provisions concerning financing and short line operation to safeguard minority stockholder and short line interests. A disturbing aftermath of the Van Sweringen decision was a rumor that there had been a "leak" from the commission some hours before it was announced. This rumor was predicated on the smashing break in the stock market.

Commission officials flatly deny there had been a "leak" but it is not improbable, however, that there may be an investigation of the alleged "leak" as on similar occasions during the war.

The way has been left open by the commission for the Van Sweringens to revamp their financial plans and secure approval of the merger. Another avenue toward approval is the courts, to which Van Sweringens might resort with a suit challenging the commission's jurisdiction to reject their application on financial grounds.

STATE BANKS RAISE RESOURCES IN YEAR

COLUMBUS, March 3.—Total resources and deposits larger than in 1924 was the record Ohio's 742 supervised state banks accomplished during the calendar year 1925. H. Scott, state superintendent of banks declared in a statement issued today.

Total resources of the banks December 31, 1925 were $2,015,944,191, an increase of $143,475,832 over the amount reported December 31, 1924. Total deposits were $1,703,544,019, an increase of more than $95,557,525.

Individual deposits were $477,315,365, an increase of $22,955,203. Savings deposits were $827,212,196, an increase of $57,218,114.

Loans and discounts were $1,265,948,559, an increase of $120,948,651.

THREE KILLED IN COLLISION

Chicago Suburban Train Crashes Into Freight In Darkness—More Than Score Numbered
With Injured

CHICAGO, March 3.—Speeding through the darkness of early morning with returning theater-goers, an Illinois Central suburban train crashed head on with a Michigan Central freight train. Three were killed and a seriously injured, many of them seriously injured.

Edward E. Benjamin, conductor on the I. C. train, Ollie Nelson, believed to have been a passenger, and T. A. Grieman, fireman, died at a hospital. At least three of the injured are so badly hurt they may die, hospital attendants said.

After-theater goers who were riding the suburban train, were considerably thinned out when the two trains crashed, the majority of passengers having left at closer down town stations.

When the crash came there was much confusion. The two engines were tangled into a mass of steel and windows of the suburban were shattered.

Passengers were forced to fight their way through the train beating out already broken windows, in order to get clear of the accident.

A thorough search of the wreckage made during the morning hours disclosed that no other passengers or members of the railroad crew were buried underneath the debris.

REPORT PROPT WILL BE OUSTED IN FAVOR OF COLUMBUS AGENT

Advocate Of Sane Enforcement May Be
New Choice

By United Press
COLUMBUS, O., March 3.—Semi-official reports in circulation here today said State Dry Inspector S. A. Propst, storm center in Gov. Donahay's investigation of the state prohibition department, will be ousted and that W. D. Jones, of Columbus, will be appointed his successor.

Jones has been connected with the department for four years and is regarded by high state officials as an advocate of "sane liquor law enforcement." In the pre-Volstead days, Jones was connected with the state liquor licensing board.

Governor Donahay refused to confirm or deny the report and did not admit that he intends to oust Propst. The governor likewise refused to discuss rumors that he will permit the Anti-Saloon League to select Propst's successor in the event the latter leaves the department.

The general belief in state circles today, was that the governor will disregard the Anti-Saloon League in any new appointments under consideration.

The Anti-Saloon League was responsible for Propst's appointment and for the naming of Frank Evans of Columbus, whom Propst succeeded. Evans was removed fourteen months ago after the governor had investigated complaints similar to those involving Propst.

Under the present circumstances it was the general opinion that the governor will take the position that the league had two chances to select a man for deputy commissioner and that it is his turn.

ALLEGED GAMBLER CAUGHT BY POLICE

CLEVELAND, March 3.—George P. Himmelstein, former owner of the Grand Fraternity Club, Mayfield Heights, was arrested today charged with exhibiting "gambling devices," as a result of a raid late yesterday on his new gambling resort, the West Lake Club, which occurred a few hours after operations of the club had been exposed.

Himmelstein's Grand Fraternity Club was closed several weeks ago along with other gambling houses in Cuyahoga County after H. H. Hershey, Lancaster, Pa., gambler, is said to have lost $40,000 over the tables.

Himmelstein was found in bed at his home here by Cleveland detectives who made the arrest on a warrant sworn to by Lorain County officials.

PROGRESS IN PROBE OF MURDER AT STANDSTILL

Grand Jury Will Not Meet This Week—Report Solution
Will Shake Troy Social Circles—
No New Developments

TROY, O., March 3.—No noticeable progress was made today as authorities and special investigators resumed their probe of the brutal murder of Mrs. Frances Drake Nesbitt, former Ohio State University tennis champion.

The now famous murder mystery, outwardly, appeared no nearer solution than on the day Jacob Nesbitt found his wife's bruised body, her head bearing deep lacerations, in the bathtub at their home.

"The grand jury will not be called this week," Prosecutor Leonard Harvey said today. "It may never be called." He added speculatively.

"This does not mean that the investigators do not know who the slayer is," Harvey intimated.

Report is going the rounds today saying the murder involved members of Troy's socially elite. Special Prosecutor A. B. Campbell was carrying on a line of investigation today, it was said, that may yield results. Campbell refused to discuss the case other than to say

VAN SWERINGENS TO CAMPAIGN FOR RAIL MERGER APPROVAL

Brother Will Not Abandon Project For Consolidation

By United Press
CLEVELAND, O., March 3.—The Van Sweringen brothers whose application for the Nickel Plate combination was rejected by the Interstate Commerce Commission, will campaign to bring about the ultimate approval of their projected billion dollar consolidation, it was learned today.

Although O. J. and M. J. Van Sweringen avoided comment on the decision it was established definitely that they have no intention of abandoning the project launched two years ago.

It is believed the Van Sweringens will issue statements after they have opportunity to analyze the decision. Several years ago the commission denied the application of the Van Sweringens to go forward with the $40,000,000 Station-on-the-Square project in Cleveland.

The Van Sweringens fought the decision and finally brought about a reversal.

Both brothers accepted the commission's announcement philosophically.

W. C. Colston, vice president of the Nickel Plate and one time finance director of the commerce commission, was en route to Washington today as personal representative of the Van Sweringens to review the reason for the commission's rejection.

The Van Sweringens have their choice of one of the following moves:

1.—Prepare an entirely new plan to be re-submitted to stockholders for approval.

2.—Ask the interstate commerce commission for a rehearing.

3.—Modify the plan in order not to alter the rights of stockholders of any of the five lines.

4.—Operate the roads as separate systems under the practical control which they continue to hold in their stocks.

Thousands of stockholders deposited their shares under an agreement with the Van Sweringen committee which permits the committee to substitute "any plan of consolidation which does not materially alter the rights of the depositors." In case any of the five roads in the consolidation must of necessity be dropped from the consolidation, the depositors get their stock back.

ACTIVE TRADING IS EXPECTED TO BREAK RECORDS WEDNESDAY

Blocking of Rail Merger
Has Effect on Market.

By United Press
NEW YORK, March 3.—Trading on the stock exchange opened today with such volume that tickers were swamped in initial transactions.

A flood of over-night selling orders, together with evidences of strong buying support, resulted in the trading of 325,000 shares in the first fifteen minutes.

At this rate total volume would be 6,500,000 or twice as much as the record day's business.

The market was decidedly irregular. Brokers, anxiously watching the railroad stocks, saw varying tendencies. Chesapeake and Ohio, a leading unit in the proposed Van Sweringen merger, which was frowned upon yesterday by the Interstate Commerce Commission, was up 2 3/4 at 116. Other rails, however, suffered material drops. The C. & O. opposed the merger.

NEW YORK, March 3.—Many followers of financial affairs believed today would furnish the test to determine just how far the present decline on the New York Stock Market is going.

Brokers' clerks worked far into the night straightening out the books as a result of yesterday's wild closing when records for sales which have stood for years were broken in the final hour.

Effectiveness of the interstate commerce commission's adverse decision on the Nickel Plate railroad merger was expected to show its influence on today's market, coupled with apparent general downward trend.

Just where yesterday's market left many traders was indefinite today but it was known that brokers had closed numbers of margin accounts, selling the stocks involved "at the market" when the customers could not cover additional margin. This had left many customers owing brokers substantial sums, but the brokers thought much of it would be collected.

Study of yesterday's market figures brings out these facts: Declines ranged from five to 18 points on the stock exchange and from 5 to 33 1/2 points on the curb.

The average drop of industrial stocks was 4 1/2 points, and of railroad 1.99.

The average drop of all stocks was 3.25.

Issoes trades in during the day totaled 625—the largest number ever effected in a single day on the market.

Total sales yesterday were 3,075,000 shares—the sixth time in history a day has gone over the three million mark. Transactions in the last hours were 1,439,000 shares, a figure which would in itself be considered a satisfactory normal day's business. As the market followers looked back over the day's developments there was wide-spread rumor that some one had made an extraordinary guess as to the decision the interstate commerce commission would make—and did make half an hour after the market closed—on the Nickel Plate Railroad merger.

Washington dispatches quoted officials confining at any idea of a "leak" while there was no confirmation of any such reports, every one maintaining that any anticipation on the decision, was merely the result of good application of logical reasoning—or guessing.

DATES FOR ANNUAL COUNTY FAIR FIXED BY BOARD AT MEET

Greene County Fair will be held August 3, 4, 5 and 6, it was decided at a recent meeting of the Greene County Agricultural Society, according to J. Robert Bryson, secretary.

Amusement plans laid for the 1926 fair, by the fair board were those for a new building to house exhibits of the boys' and girls' clubs of the county, Grange and County Farm Bureau. Plans for the new building are only tentative and Mrs. L. H. Jones, Yellow Springs, chairman of the committee will report at the next meeting concerning more definite plans.

It was also proposed at the meeting to construct a new grandstand at the fairgrounds. Committee selected to report on consensus of opinion in this matter at the next meeting, is composed of: C. M. Austin, N. M. Hunter, Grant Miller, B. U. Bell, F. B. Turnbull and W. C. Smith.

Livestock parade at the 1926 fair will be "bigger and better than ever" it is planned. The show will take in various organizations with floats and other spectacular arrangements. Secretary Bryson is meeting with various organizations of the county to obtain their co-operation in the show.

Fair Board members passed a rule concerning lease of the fairgrounds to organizations and individuals. Five dollars will be charged for picnics, conventions and such meetings, in order to hire a caretaker to clean up the grounds before and after each gathering.

Fair Board has donated $900 to the Greene County Boys' and Girls' Clubs to carry on their work, resulting in exhibits at the annual fair. The clubs include the dairy calf and baby beef organizations, which were separately managed before.

Greene County Grange has been donated $545 to be divided as follows: $125 for first premium; $100 for second; $80 for third; $50 for fourth and the same amount for the next three premiums.

Forest Ledbetter, alias Forest Miller, 26, Chester Apts., Dayton, formerly of Alpha and a woman registering as Esther Borland, 22, 1201 E. Third St., Dayton, were arrested in that city late Tuesday afternoon, as the result of an alleged attempt to steal two dresses and four pairs of hose valued at $4 from Ray's Clothing Store, 108 S. Main St., Dayton. The pair was lodged in Dayton jail for arraignment on charges of grand larceny Wednesday morning in municipal court.

Stanley M. Simon, assistant manager of the store, told Dayton police the woman entered the store in company with Ledbetter and said she wished to purchase a dress. While Simon was engaged in showing her the stock, Ledbetter, it is alleged, gathered the dresses and hose under his coat.

Detected by Simon, Ledbetter attempted to discard the loot but failed and was held with his companion by store employees until police arrived.

Ledbetter has a police record, authorities say, serving time for shoplifting, sentenced from Dayton. It is said the woman is from Xenia.

SEVERELY INJURED WHEN KNOCKED FROM POLE BY "HOT" WIRE

Attaches at Espey Hospital are holding hope for the recovery of Lyman Silver, 34, Waynesville, who was severely injured when he came in contact with a high voltage wire while attempting to repair telephone wires at his home, last Saturday.

He was brought to Espey Hospital Monday, after he had been unconscious following the electric shock, for twenty-four hours. He was severely burned about the head and on one wrist where he came in contact with the wire. Mr. Silver resides in Waynesville.

Home-made Supply of Fine Cough Syrup

Better than ready-made cough syrups, and saves about $2. Easily prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break severe coughs. To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

with his mother and after their telephone service had been impaired by the storm last Friday he attempted to repair the wires, Saturday. While working on a telephone pole near his home, he touched the high-voltage wire and was knocked from the pole. No bones were broken but his condition was serious until Tuesday.

He had had no experience in electrical work, it is said, which accounts for his striking the high-tension wire.

FINGERPRINTS ARE ONLY CLEWS FOUND IN ROBBERY PROBE

Aside from several fingerprints, clues are lacking to the identity of a lone burglar, who robbed the village postoffice, J. C. Anderson hardware store and Kroger grocery at Yellow Springs Monday night. Sheriff Morris Sharp investigated and does not expect the total loot will exceed $10, partly in pennies, small change, tobacco, eggs, sardines, and cheese.

Footprints in the snow indicate the postoffice was broken into first, then the hardware store and finally the grocery.

The postoffice loss was about $6 in change taken from the stamp and money order drawers. Six registered letters and four packages were opened and examined but the contents were intact, according to Postmaster C. C. Stephenson.

Frequent robberies of the postoffice in the past few years have led Postmaster Stephenson to adopt the custom of keeping valuables in other places rather than the safe.

The Story of a Girl Who Took Life Into Her Own Hands

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED

MARY WAITE, a stenographer at Craig Brothers, is bitterly disappointed when instead of spending her Saturday afternoon with

STEWART HOWE, she has to remain at the office and work. She is delighted when HILDA LEWIS phones, to ask her to "go on a party" that evening given by a friend of Hilda's husband, Pat Hamilton.

Mary lunches with Stewart, and due to her knowing Hamilton, has a better understanding of him, although he realizes that she loves her. She dines that evening with Hamilton, who tells her that he wants to give her everything in the world. He asks her to go to New York with him. Mary believes that he wants to marry her, until a friend of his pauses to ask for his work. She leaves the table and goes home alone while he is still talking with the other man.

TODAY'S INSTALLMENT

A HEARTBREAKING BLOW

MARY sighed with relief as she sank down in a corner of the elevated train, which was almost empty. Her one thought since she had left the office was from the table in the restaurant where she had sat opposite Hamilton had been only to escape from him, to get away, as fast as she could, as far as possible. Now, fighting back the angry tears that came to her eyes, she tried to face the situation. She was as angry with herself as she was with him. What a fool she had been! All ready to marry a man she wasn't in love with, if he asked her, just because he had money, and was fairly attractive—a man much older than she, with whom she could have only a few interests in common.

She sat there, her face hot with shame, staring down at the tenements past which the train rushed. How could she have been such a fool, she asked herself angrily. What if her aunt and Hilda Lewis had urged her on—that shouldn't have mattered. She should have had more self-respect, more character, than even to think of marrying Hamilton, if he had asked her.

And what must he have thought of her! No doubt he knew what was in her mind, and had laughed to himself about it. She could not bear to believe that he had thought her the kind of girl who would accept the invitation he had given her to go to New York with him, as he had given it. Oh, surely he had realized that she didn't understand!

It took an hour to ride home on the elevated, but to Mary it seemed hardly more than a few moments. She was trying to conquer her feeling of humiliation and shame. Home at last! She was glad to walk down the familiar street, to come to the big old apartment-house where she had lived so long, and go in. Her aunt spoke to her sleepily from the front bedroom as she opened the door; Mary answered, and was tiptoeing down the long hall when her aunt spoke again.

"Have a good time?" she asked in a low voice.

"Oh yes!" Not for anything in the world would Mary have admitted the truth. Well, it had been a good time, good for her, because it had taught her something that she would never forget as long as she lived. It had saved her from making that terrible mistake again.

She had learned her lesson, she told herself, as she undressed in the dark so that she would not wake Lulu. Once and for all she had learned it, and she wouldn't make the mistake again that she had made with Pat Hamilton.

When she had got into bed she gave in to the disappointment that swept over her, and lay there, sobbing, bitter over the thought that she wouldn't have the things she had thought for a moment she might have. Other girls had all of them—went abroad, had pretty clothes, good times, without working for them. Why couldn't she? She'd never done anything wrong, had lived the best she knew how, always—gone to Sunday school, to church, been a good girl.

And this was her reward—to go on grubbing away in a dingy office.

day after day, and come home at night to just the same old meals and talks with her aunt and bed.

Oh, how she wished that Stewart Howe really cared for her, as she wanted him to!

Well, perhaps he would. Their misunderstanding would blow over, and hadn't got her clothes ready the night before, as she usually did, and everything had gone wrong. She hurried on, with only a glance toward Stewart Howe's desk. It was still closed.

One of the other girls strolled over to her with some papers.

"Will you make out these reports?" I've got such a lot to do, and you won't be so busy this morning as usual—Mr. Howe won't be here," she said.

"Yes, I'll do them." Mary took them, and waited, hoping she'd explain.

"It's gone to Texas," the girl went on. "His father's awfully sick, and he had to rush down there. Took a train last night—somebody 'phoned the office about it, and Gertrude was on the switchboard, and listened in. I suppose if his father dies he'll inherit all the family money."

Mary was off on the wings of dreams again. She'd never thought much about Stewart's having money; he'd never referred to it, and a person wouldn't have known from the way he acted that his people were rich. After all, it was the right thing that happened to you, in this world, if you just lived the right way. It was Stewart she cared for, and always had. And she knew that he liked her. Sometimes she had been sure that it was more than that.

Perhaps, when he came back—she smiled happily, and went to work, conscious that the eye of the office manager was upon her.

But Stewart Howe did not return at once. Word came from him to the president of the company—whose secretary told the office manager, who told somebody else, so that the news filtered through the office—that he would not be back for at least a month. His father had died, and it would take some time to settle the estate.

"He won't ever come back," announced the girl whose desk was next to Mary's. "Now that he's inherited all that money, he'll marry some clinging vine of a Southern girl who's never done an honest day's work in her life—which was hardly fair to Southern girls in general!"

"And we'll never see him again, unless he strolls in on his way to Europe to let the president meet his wife."

Mary didn't want to believe her, but could hardly help it. After all, why shouldn't he do just that? Why should he care for a girl like her?

She felt as if life held very little more for her, somehow. It would always be dull and disagreeable, as it was then.

"I mustn't feel this way. I must do my very best with my work, and make it amount to something to me," she told herself. "There aren't many jobs as good as this one that I could get."

She learned the truth of that statement the following week, when she lost the job, and had to hunt for another one.

MRS. SCOTT GIVEN
ABSOLUTE DECREE

DETROIT, March 3.—The final chapter in the sensational divorce suit involving Congressman and Mrs. Frank D. Scott, of Michigan, has been written here with granting of an absolute decree to Mrs. Scott on grounds of desertion.

Settlement of the suit was in marked contrast to the original action started by Scott at his home in Alpena late in 1924, when alleged scandal in official Washington featured his unsuccessful efforts for separation.

Scott filed no answer to his wife's suit and though represented left uncontested her allegation of desertion, March 23, 1922. Counsel for Mrs. Scott announced a property settlement satisfactory to his client was effected out of court.

ADDITIONAL CHARGES MAY BE FILED AGAINST DRY OFFICERS

Constables Earl Severs and J. W. Sidwell, Van Buren Twp., Montgomery County, and State Probation Inspector J. E. Watts are at liberty under $1,000 each, pending Greene County grand jury action on charges of shooting with intent to wound, filed against the dry raiders by Theodore Mullins, 17, of near Osborn.

The trio waived preliminary hearing at Osborn Tuesday and was bound over to the grand jury by Mayor Harry Frahn.

Charges filed by Mullins are the outgrowth of a raid at Osborn in February in which it is alleged Mullins was shot at thirteen times and wounded twice in his arm, not seriously.

Cortez M. Smith, real estate agent, 135 Salem Ave., Dayton, is expected to be the chief witness present when the shooting took place. He substantiated Mullins' charges. He further alleged the dry raiders were without a search warrant when they entered the Mullins' home and found a quantity of liquor in Fitzgerald's room. He also claims officers imposed for possessing liquor. Whiskey was introduced as evidence against him, it is said.

It is hinted that officers may have to face an additional charge of searching without a warrant if investigation bears out Smith's accusations.

Mullins was arrested several days ago on a warrant filed by John Powell, state prohibition officer, who charges him with being partial owner of alleged liquor found by the constables and state agent during the February raid in Osborn. He will be given a preliminary hearing before R. O. Copsey, justice of the peace, Xenia, March 12. It was continued from March 4.

WILSON GALLOWAY TO HEAD RED
CROSS; REV. TILFORD DECLINES

The Rev. W. H. Tilford, Xenia, who has served as chairman of the Greene County Red Cross, since 1922, declined re-election at the annual meeting of the executive board, in assembly room, Court House, Tuesday afternoon. Wilson W. Galloway, of the Hagar Straw Board and Paper Co., Cedarville, was elected to fill the office of chairman. Mr. Galloway has served for some time on the executive board. He is well-known throughout the county and has taken considerable interest in

Mrs. Allen C. Swinnerton, Yellow Springs, was re-elected recording secretary and George Geyer, Xenia, was re-elected treasurer. Frederick Anderson was elected as another member of the board.

The Rev. Mr. Tilford was given a vote of thanks for his untiring and efficient service during the years he was in office. A number of board members individually expressed their appreciation of his work.

The executive board elects its own officers. Nineteen were present from different parts of the county. Reports were received from Miss Margaret Wead, secretary and Miss Helen Evers, public health nurse.

According to Miss Wead's report, 101 calls were received at the office during February; fifty-three of this number being from ex-soldiers. Twelve new cases were cared for and seventy-three old cases were under Red Cross care.

Miss Evers made 115 calls during the month, with ten nursing visits, fifty-four for instruction or demonstration, thirty-six miscellaneous and fifteen to schools. She cared for twenty-seven new cases and twenty-one medical cases. Remainder of the reports concerned routine work.

IF HAIR IS DRY

BLAME CONSTANT
CURLING, WAVING

Girls just must curl and wave batted hair to appear their prettiest. But constant curling and waving burn and dry the luster, vitality and very life from the hair. To offset these bad effects, just get a 35-cent bottle of delightful, refreshing "Danderine" at any drug store or toilet counter and just see for yourself how quickly it revives dry, brittle, lifeless, and fading hair.

"Danderine" is a dependable tonic and will do wonders for any girl's hair. It nourishes, stimulates and strengthens each single hair, bringing back that youthful gleam, glint and vigorous luxuriance. Falling hair stops and dandruff disappears. "Danderine" is pleasant and easy to use.—Adv.

HISTORY OF CLIFTON DEPICTED IN PAGEANT BY LOCAL TALENT

A literary event in the history of Clifton and Greene County took place at the Clifton Opera House, Tuesday evening when thirty residents of the village presented "The Story of Clifton" in pantomime, song, poems, character-acting, written, directed and staged entirely by local talent.

True story of the romance of Clifton, which is a part of the interesting story of Greene County, was religiously followed in the program. Audience filled the village opera house.

Scenes and episodes opened with a poem "To The Little Miami River," written and given by Mrs. Warren Printz. First prologue included five Indian scenes, Chester Preston enacting the role of Tecumseh, famous Indian chief. The part of Daniel Boone was taken by Herbert Corry and Ralph Rife enacted Darnell's leap over the cliffs to escape the Indians.

The story of Jennie Cowan, white woman captured when a child by the Indians and who, after refusing to marry an Indian brave, was assisted in escaping by him, was given by Miss Eleanor Webster. Cecil Rife took the part of Lewis Davis, first settler in Clifton, with Mrs. Alfred Swaby, the Indian maid who showed him the cliffs near where the village now stands. A group of Indian songs was given by Mrs. Walter Corry in Indian costume.

Pioneer episode opened with a scene revealing the hunter's cabin with spinning wheel, trapped deer and other pioneer features. Other characters in the village's history were taken as follows: "General Benjamin White," Walter B. Corry; "Samuel Lewis and Timothy Bates," founders of Clifton, Professor Lewis Echman and Blaine Spahr; "Peter Monforth," first pastor of the Clifton Presbyterian Church, Wallace Rife.

"Singing school" was conducted with old-time songs with Walter B. Corry as music master. The part of Evliss Ball, first physician of the settlement, was taken by Leonard Flatter.

Episode depicting the dwindling of industrial progress and loss of the railroad through the village was opened with songs of long-ago by Miss Mildred Kyle and Mrs.

FASCIST IGNORE
CHARGES OF ROSSI

ROME, March 3.—The fascist government announced today that it is indifferent to the charges brought against it by General Cosimo Rossi, former Chief of Premier Mussolini's publicity department, who has escaped to France. Rossi could have been kept in Italy, it was said.

The government feels itself to be too strong to be subject to inquiry by the words of Rossi.

YELLOW SPRINGS HIGH GIRLS WIN EASILY FROM CAESARCREEK

Yellow Springs High girls basketball team closed its season in the Greene County Basketball Association League with an easy 31 to 21 win over Caesar Creek girls at Caesar Creek in a postponed game Tuesday night.

Yellow Springs boys bettered their position in the league by defeating Caesar Creek 31 to 13 to make the victory a double one.

By virtue of beating Caesar Creek the Yellow Springs sextet won the official championship in the girls loop, ending the schedule with an unbroken record of nine victories. Yellow Springs boys will play the O. S. and S. O. Home team at Yellow Springs Saturday night in a second postponed game and give a chance to forge ahead in the league standing.

The Home girls' team recently disbanded and automatically forfeits its game with Yellow Springs, it is said. The Yellow Springs lassies will meet Springfield High girls in the preliminary Saturday night.

Lineup and summary girls game:

ST. MARYS HIGH WINS HANDILY FROM ST. BRIGIDS HIGH FIVE

Displaying a dazzling floor game and uncanny shooting ability, St. Marys High, Urbana, walked away with its game with St. Brigid's High, this city, by a score of 32 to 16 Tuesday night at Central High School gym.

St. Marys' passwork was almost letter perfect and combining this with accurate shooting, especially in the second half, the visitors were never seriously threatened and rang up an easy win.

St. Brigid's was less proficient in the respect of defense and offense and was the victim of a superior basketball team. Locals played a sturdy game the first half holding their opponents to a 10 to 4 margin but were completely outclassed the final periods.

St. Marys basketballers were deadly from mid-floor and a majority of their baskets were of the long range variety.

The Xenia parochial quintet showed flashes of good form but defeat may be partially attributed to failure to maintain a consistent attack.

St. Marys' attack was centered around Bianchi and Ruzetti, the former making four fielders while the stocky forward bulked the strings on seven occasions for eleven points.

Cain and Killen showed up perhaps the best for the losers from an individual scoring standpoint with Ernst also playing a fine game.

Lineup and summary:
 St. Brigid's (16) St. Marys (32)

Field goals—Killen 2, Ernst 2, Cain 2, Ruzetti 4, Bianchi 4, Kerns 3, Astoria 2. Foul goals—Killen 2, Ernst 1, Cain 1, Ruzetti 3, Harrigan 1, Astoria 1, Kerns 1. Referee—Gegner, Xenia.

NEW PARTNERSHIP TAKES CHEVROLET AGENCY IN COUNTY

M. F. Jacoby, of the Greene County Auto Sales Co., W. Main St., has formed a partnership with F. W. Lang, Cincinnati, and will open new headquarters for the county agency of Chevrolet automobiles, on Green St., it is announced.

New Chevrolet headquarters will be located in the room formerly occupied by the Bradstreet Grocery. Business room recently occupied by the Greene County Auto Sales has not been leased.

The Greene County Auto Sales was formed by Mr. Jacoby and Fred A. Norckauer, eight years ago and the business and display room on W. Main St. opened. Partnership of Mr. Jacoby and Mr. Norckauer was dissolved a year ago, but Mr. Norckauer remained in Mr. Jacoby's employ since that time.

Green St. headquarters of the new firm will be opened next week. Name of the new agency has not been decided on and will be announced at the opening. Mr. Jacoby said Wednesday, Mr. Lang, new member of the firm, has been located in Cincinnati as a coffee salesman.

TAKE SALTS IF RHEUMATISM IS BOTHERING YOU

Tells Rheumatism Sufferers to Take Salts to Get Rid of Toxic Acid.

Rheumatism is no respecter of age, sex, color or rank. If not the most dangerous of human afflictions it is one of the most painful. Those subject to rheumatism should eat no sweets for awhile, dress as warmly as possible, avoid any undue exposure and above all, drink lots of pure water.

Rheumatism is caused by uric acid or body waste matter, and is often generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this poison from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed thus forcing the kidneys to do double work; they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this toxic acid, which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain, called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is helpful to neutralize acidity, remove waste and stimulate the kidneys, thus helping rid the blood of these rheumatic poisons.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.

Adv.

chief of the United States Air Service will speak at Memorial Hall. Delegations from Richmond, Hamilton, Springfield, Middletown and other surrounding cities are expected to be in attendance. Former Colonel will base his address on the subject "America's Place in the Air."

Foody Post took action at the time of Colonel Mitchell's trial several weeks ago and wired him their endorsement of his stand on aviation matters.

Give me a pipe and Prince Albert

GIVE me a pipe and Prince Albert. I want to be happy, you bet. I know what I want when I want it . . . a smoke without grief or regret. Funny how a fellow wants to break into poetry when he's happy as a lark.

Well, that's ME all over. I've discovered the one tobacco that makes a jimmy-pipe a pal for life. Good old P. A., the chummiest tobacco that ever nestled in the bowl of a briar. Cool and sweet and fragrant, just never was a tobacco like P. A.

I start in right after breakfast and hit it up till I sign off for the night. It never bites my tongue or parches my throat. They tell me the Prince Albert process cuts out bite and parch. Whatever it is, I can testify they're out!

Here's a hot tip on a cool smoke—get yourself a tidy red tin of Prince Albert now. Tuck a neat wad of it into your old jimmy-pipe and make fire with a match. That's the formula . . . simple as falling out of bed. That's why I'm pipe-happy, Brother.

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top, and always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

BRITISH SOCIAL EXPERIMENT PROVES WORTH DURING WINTER

LONDON, March 3.—Great Britain is entering a critical period of hard times and severe winter weather. Its several regulations of compulsory insurance for workers, and other schemes for the relief of the unemployed.

There has been considerable suffering, especially in the shipbuilding districts, but nothing compared to the distress that would have resulted without the far-reaching mutual benefit measures which constitute a vast sociological experiment in government never before attempted by any nation.

Three distinct compulsory insurance laws are now operating successfully to safeguard the welfare of workers. They are Unemployment Insurance, National Health Insurance and Old Age Pensions. Another measure is the Poor Law Relief, but this is controlled by local district councils and amounts to charity to the poor out of the local rates, which are quite apart from state taxes.

In addition, there is the Unemployment Grants Commission, under which state funds are allotted to local authorities for the development of roads, railroads, canals, viaducts and other utilities which will provide work for the jobless and ameliorate the pressure of hard times.

Another effort is the Trade Facilities Account, with this the government undertakes to assist the extension of export trade by advancing capital to private enterprise which other wise would be unable to make progress. This indirectly relieves the depression.

All these schemes merge into the policy which has three aims: first, help by insurance; second, help by the relief of distress; third, help by direct relief for anticipated works. This is Britain's fight to come back.

The insurance measures have established funds from which benefits are paid as by any privately controlled insurance company. Under the Unemployment Insurance all workers earning less than 250 pounds a year must pay four and a half pence (about nine cents) a week when they are working and the employers must pay five pence. There are now 11,500,000 contributors to the fund. The Health and Pensions measures are now combined, in respect to payments. Employers must pay ten pence a week and workers eight pence. If the worker earns less than three shillings a day the employer must pay a larger rate and the worker a smaller rate, which amounts to the same total. Workers who fall sick collect benefits while they are incapacitated. The Pensions Act is comparatively new, but the fund is growing and will in time be a blessing to those who have to retire from active work.

The Poor Law Relief is a measure passed under Queen Elizabeth to relieve the poor. It is now severely criticized because, under district supervision, it does not operate equitably. In a poor dis-

11,000 schemes requiring 90,000,000 pounds, have been approved since 1920, and under the Grants Commission public works and improvements have been realized that otherwise might have been delayed for years.

A Berlin, Germany man, who has been able to go without food for more than thirty days, has so aroused the admiration of the girls that 500 of them, thinking how few meals they would have to cook, have proposed marriage.

Turks, who have seen the behavior of thirty Americans abroad, only smile when prohibition is mentioned. They think it is a manifestation of a queer sense of humor.

During the Civil War, Union troops seized cotton on a certain Louisiana estate. The heir to the estate has just been paid $7,666.67 for the cotton.

A young Chicago couple decided to get married after a dance, but when they were unable to get a license before 9:30 a.m. the man changed his mind, and now the girl is suing for $50,000 heart balm.

GREAT AQUARIUM PLAN FOR CHICAGO

CHICAGO, March 3.—"Johnny" Shedd who lived in the village of Alstead, N. H., used to take great delight in watching the sportive trout and other fish dart about the clear stream at the edge of the village. To Johnny's love of the finny tribe, Chicago today attributes a gift of $2,000,000 for what is planned to be the world's greatest aquarium.

"Johnny" is now John G. Shedd, millionaire chairman of the board of Marshall Field & Company. The aquatic bears his name. Shedd has made a personal study of aquariums in the great cities of the world, and the Chicago project will be the best of its kind in the world, according to a statement by the Shedd Aquarium Society.

Industry Plays an Important Part in Cedarville's Progress

JUNE 29, 1816, Jesse and William Newport recorded the land for Cedarville. In the same year the first church was erected. John Orr built the first house in 1836. The first private school was built in 1850 by James Turnbull. In 1866 the first free school was opened. The first newspaper, "Enterprise," was brought out by H. M. Northup in 1877. The Opera House owned jointly by the town and the township, contains Mayor D. H. McFarland's office, and other official offices. Cedarville was incorporated in 1848. Cedarville College was chartered in 1887 and opened in 1894. Rev. Wilbert R. McChesney, Ph.D., D.D., has been president since 1915. The farming community of Cedarville today is made up of 1,200 inhabitants, 70% of whom own their own homes. There are 450 homes. Five hundred students attend the consolidated school. There are 14 teachers. Professor Oxley is superintendent. George Rife is president and Mr. West cashier of the Cedarville Exchange Bank, and Andrew Jackson, a descendant of "Old Hickory" Jackson, is secretary and manages the Cedarville Building and Loan Association. The Hagar Strawboard and Paper Company, with the Abel Magnolia Company, stone quarry and lime products, managed by Carter Able and the Cedarville Lumber Company, managed by Ancil Wright with Harvey Thomas, president, are the principle industries. Besides the general merchandise store of Robert Bird and Sons and Company, there are groceries operated by Chris Masters, Willard Trout, B. H. Little, Reed Friddle, and J. W. Johnson; a drug store by A. E. Richard; hardware stores by Charles Stucker and by Mr. Gordon. Hayes and "Service Hardware" managed by Reed Pringle in connection with his grocery. J. W. Johnson runs the jewelry store. Bakeries are operated by Jacob Sigler and Perry Gilliland. The association of Cedarville with Dayton and Rike-Kumler's is something of which both may be proud.

If these brief accounts of the founding, early struggles and later accomplishments of these Miami Valley towns stir their neighbors to a greater spirit of friendly cooperation, The Rike-Kumler Co. will feel well repaid and deeply gratified.

The Spirit of Waynesville Today is Building for Tomorrow

WAYNESVILLE was laid out in 1796 by the government and in 1797 Samuel Heighway built the first log cabin there. In 1803 the citizens agreed unanimously to erect a "Mad Anthony" Wayne whose daring in quelling the office was established in 1804. A post-office was established in 1804. Wright's flour mill, erected in 1828 and today operated by C. M. Robitzer, is one of the very few mills still run by water power. This mill and the covered bridge erected across the Little Miami in 1820, are cherished landmarks. The Miami Gazette, a very modern and progressive newspaper, ably edited by D. L. Crane, is the outgrowth of the Miami Visitor, which was founded in 1841 by J. W. Roberts. In 1808 the first "pay" schools were founded. Miss Jesse Butternorth and Samuel Scott were the first teachers. Today Waynesville has a fine high and grade school with 18 teachers for the 527 students. F. R. Moomaw is superintendent. The present population of Waynesville is 620. There are 350 homes of which 85% are self-owned. Here is located the only normal school in the county. The Wayneville National Bank, incorporated for $100,000. W. H. Allen is president and L. M. Henderson cashier. The New Century Club, of which Mrs. J. W. Ward is president; the Farmers Club with S. S. Ellis president, and the Campfire Girls Troop with Mrs. F. R. Moomaw heads all contribute to the betterment of the community. The Mothers Club is headed by Mrs. Vern Armthage. T. E. Rogers is the mayor. Meyer Hyman's Dry Goods Store and the Waynesville Packing Company, managed by H. G. Welles, are two outstanding Waynesville developments. The spirit of friendliness and helpfulness which permeates this community is reason enough for its continued growth and expansion. On every side is progress. In Rike-Kumler Company is glad of its location in a city so near Waynesville—glad to tell of its development.

Not Even a Cyclone Could Deter Jamestown From Succeeding

JAMESTOWN was originally platted by Thomas Browder and Martin Mendenhall on May 31, 1816. The name was given by Browder who had come from Jamestown, Virginia. Jamestown was incorporated in 1849 by S. T. Owens. The second brick school, the oldest building in Jamestown is used today as a blacksmith shop. In April, 1884, a cyclone struck Jamestown, wiping out half of the village. A relief committee was organized with W. A. Paxson as chairman and work begun rebuilding. The first newspaper was published in 1870 by William Galvin. Today, the Jamestown Journal, of which Mr. J. Ervin Christy is both editor and publisher, is one of the outstanding village papers in the Miami Valley. Its editorial pages, its makeup and policies are excellent. Jamestown's present population is 1,300. There are 450 homes of which 90% are self-owned. The Ross Township Centralized School has in attendance 400 students, with 10 teachers, under Superintendent J. W. Gowdy. Besides the Farmers and Traders National Bank, incorporated for $50,000 and founded about 1860, by Mr. Snyers, who continued as its president until his death, there is the Peoples National Bank, incorporated for $21,000 of which W. W. Johnson is president and George Spahr, cashier. Robert Zimmerman is now president and R. J. Moomaw, cashier of the Farmers and Traders National Bank. Dr. F. W. Ogan is the mayor. In the dry goods field, the W. E. Reid Store and that of L. S. Farquhar are representative. Besides these there are groceries, variety, jewelry and hardware stores. The Venard Theater is owned by David Venard. The Jamestown Canning Company operates in season. The manner in which Jamestown attacked its rehabilitation problem when the cyclone of 1884 struck it is the way in which it has surmounted every obstacle presented to it. The Rike-Kumler Company wishes to take this opportunity to pay a tribute to the initiative and determination which has marked its every endeavor.

Wilmington—Prominent in Education—in Industry—in Accomplishment

WILMINGTON was chosen the county seat in 1803 and laid out in 1810. David Faulkner and Joseph Doan were the donors of the land. Isaiah Morris was the first mayor and first postmaster in 1812 by Isaac Garretson in a log cabin erected by Mr. Doan. A high school was built in 1911 and a junior high in 1923. Its schools today instruct 1,080 students through 37 teachers. L. K. Probascio is superintendent. The True American, the first newspaper, was published in 1814. The Herald of 1915, was bought by W. J. Galvin, of Jamestown, and changed to Wilmington Daily News. The Democrat, of 1880, is a weekly. R. Kenneth Kerr is business manager. Wilmington is a manufacturing center for furnaces, auger bits and like machinery. The $400,000 Irvin Auger Bit Co., of which J. W. Denver is president, is the largest organization of its kind in the world. The Farquhar Fur organization, of which J. R. Cleveland, with Francis H. MacArthur, sales agent and the Wilmington Casting Co., of which J. F. Goebel is vice president are outstanding industries. The Clinton National Bank and Trust Co., with a capitalization of $400,000 is headed by M. R. Denver with H. G. Hudson, cashier. Denver, Colorado, is named after M. R. Denver's father, who was one of Ohio's governors. The First National Bank is capitalized for $100,000 with A. J. Wilson, president and C. H. Vandervort, cashier. M. R. Denver heads the Wilmington Mothers Club. The Mrs. Charles Martin is president of the C. W. Murphy, of the Chicago Opera House was donated by C. W. Murphy, of the Chicago Opera House. Watt and Patterson's Department store is one of the leading stores in the community. Wilmington College was started here in 1865 by three brothers, Thomas D. James H. and H. Carson Farvin. The Rike-Kumler Company can but briefly sum up here those things which each one of its 5,500 inhabitants know and are proud of. That it is a fine place to live in is demonstrated by the 1,300 homes. 65% are self-owned.

Bellbrook's First Settler Became One of Ohio's Early Governors

THE village of Bellbrook was first settled by Joseph C. Vance who built a log cabin in 1796. He later became one of Ohio's first governors. The first store was kept in this building by Joseph Gowdy. Here also the first hotel was operated by James Clancey. At about the same time Nathan Samme one of the very early settlers built a long cabin a little northeast of Bellbrook. Stephen Bell, James Clancey and Henry Updike laid out the village in 1815 and Bell named it Bellbrook because of the many brooks around this spot. Bellbrook was incorporated in 1832. Henry Updike erected the first flour mill on Little Sugar Creek in 1820. The first school was built entirely of logs. Greased paper was used for windows. James Pain taught the classes. Today there is a centralized school which was built in 1924 and in which the high school classes are held. The grades are still taught in the old buildings. There are about 150 pupils and 12 teachers. Mr. Weaver is superintendent. The making of maple sugar was one of the earliest industries. Maple sugar camps were spotted throughout the country. Bellbrook today has a population of 400 with 100 homes, 85% of which are self-owned. Bellbrook is a splendid farming district while general business is the chief occupation. Oliver Watson, the mayor, has written a number of articles on Bellbrook. In Bellbrook is the general store of the Dinnwidde Thomas Company and the hardware store of Raymond Penwit. The old home of Mrs. Susan Stotzenberger is over 100 years old. Individually, the capabilities of the men Bellbrook has developed and collectively the spirit it has demonstrated in building up one of the fastest progressing villages in the Miami Valley, makes it a neighbor of which Dayton may well be proud. As proud and as glad as The Rike-Kumler Company is in printing these few brief details of Bellbrook's founding and subsequent development.

HAVE COLOR IN CHEEKS

Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects.

They start the bile and overcome constipation. Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results. Millions of boxes are sold annually at 15c and 30c.

Dimples

What can I do?

"Oh, why can't I have a skin like other girls? Why do I have to have these ugly pimples, blotches and blackheads?"

"If I could only find something that would clear up my skin and give me back my soft, rosy complexion, I know I would be the happiest girl in the world! What can I do?"

Is that you talking? If it is, you don't have to worry a minute! Just build up the rich, red blood in your body. Then your skin will be as clear and soft as anybody's.

That's what S. S. S. has been doing for generations—helping Nature build rich, red blood! You can build red-blood-cells so fast that the impurities that cause breaking out on the skin hardly get into the system before the pure blood annihilates them—kills them right out—stops them from breaking out through the skin.

And then this rich, red, pure blood feeds and nourishes the tissues of the skin and keeps it looking healthy.

That's all there is to it. Healthy, vigorous red blood such as S. S. S. helps Nature build, makes you healthy all over. It beautifies your skin—drives away pimples, blackheads, blotches, rash, boils and eczema—gives you back your appetite—builds firm, plump flesh and fills you full of new life and energy.

All drug stores sell S. S. S. Get the larger bottle. It's more economical.

Xenia is one of the Most Progressive Towns in Miami Valley

JOHN AND JAMES STEPHANSON were the first settlers. From Joseph Vance they secured land and built their cabin in 1797. John Paul, Xenia's first director, donated all the land for its public buildings. Court was held in William Beatty's Tavern until 1807. He succeeded Paul as director. Remembrance Williams erected the first cabin at Robert's Villa in 1800, three years later Joseph Vance laid out Xenia. In 1804, John Marshall built the first cabin inside Xenia's limits. The first postmaster was Reverend Towler; the first teacher, Benjamin Grover. Xenia was incorporated in 1817. The first log school was erected in 1805. Today there are 1,800 students in Xenia's four schools. There are 61 teachers under Superintendent C. Penny. Xenia today has a population of 11,762. This "city of homes" has 3,600 of which 70% are self-owned. Today the R. A. Kelly Twine Factory, the Hooten and Allison Cordage Company, with J. D. Steele, president, and the Xenia Shoe Company, headed by P. H. Flynn, are outstanding industries of the country. R. S. Kinsberry heads the Citizens National Bank, with M. L. Wolfe, cashier. The Xenia National Bank is presided over by George Little with John A. Nisbet, cashier. Both are incorporated for $100,000. S. O. Hale is the present City Manager. Jobe Brothers Company and the J. W. Gibney Department Store are the leading stores of Xenia. The Xenia Gazette is edited by J. A. Chew and the Xenia Herald by Harry E. Rice. Wilberforce College, near Xenia, recognized as one of the most important negro colleges in America, was founded in 1844, and in 1863 taken over entirely by the colored race. Xenia's civic spirit and progressiveness and the splendor of its citizenship give to The Rike-Kumler Company and every citizen of Dayton the thrill of pride in person of Xenia, last year was chosen by the government as official delegate to the International Convention of Scientists at Paris. He also revised the last edition of Webster's Dictionary.

Spring Valley Was One of the Earliest of Miami Valley Towns

IT was Edward Walton, who in 1806, bought 1,000 acres of land from the Soldiers' Land Military Survey at $3 an acre, who is known today as the founder of Spring Valley. The original map of Spring Valley, laid out by Edward and Moses Walton, is now in the hands of John Walton who still resides in the original Walton home, the oldest building in Spring Valley. In 1815 the Gladys School, the first to be built was erected. In 1845, Moses constructed a warehouse and turned the second story into a school. Later, in 1854, the first brick building was built. In 1869, this was utilized for a school. The first graded school was organized in 1860. Josua Nickerson and Mary Barrett were teachers. Spring Valley is so named because of the many springs in the valley between the mounds. C. A. Sollers is the mayor of Spring Valley, which has a population of 443 with 125 homes, 65% of which are owner tenanted. It boasts a township night school and a village school. George W. Drelves, the superintendent reports 200 students and 6 teachers. One of the finest of small banks is the Spring Valley National Bank, incorporated for $25,000, of which W. C. Smith is president and W. E. Crites, cashier. A Community Club fosters social entertainments, the Parent Teachers Association has W. E. Crites acting as president. Arch Copsey and C. M. Holton operate two high type groceries. W. R. Hatt and Sons supply Spring Valley with its hardware needs, while Hyman and Block Company operate the dry goods store. The Rike-Kumler Company in spreading throughout the Miami Valley some few details of Spring Valley's early days and present advancement, does so with the feeling that every town and hamlet of this valley, united as they are in spirit, joins with them in presaging the future of this enterprising community.

THIS IS BABY WEEK

For the benefit of a few mothers who were so unfortunate as not to get a copy of my book on "The Care of Your Baby," I take this opportunity of presenting a few important rules, which I believe will be very valuable.

Does the baby chew his toes? Don't let that alarm you. He won't be so anxious to keep his feet clean in a few years. Then, too, he must have something to chew until he gets old enough to chew tobacco.

Does your baby pick up magazines, newspapers and letters and go to chewing on them? Aha, you will have a postmaster in the family. In case you would like something that the baby cannot chew into bits, write me and I will send you some of the indestructible biscuits my wife bakes.

Then there is the question of dressing the baby. In the first place, every baby has to have about as many changes of clothes as Rudolph Valentino. As babies are hard to grab hold of, I suggest the following plan:

Have a vice attached to the kitchen table. Take the youngster and put its shoulders in the vice and tighten on the handle until there is no chance for the little fellow to fall out. This will give you a chance to answer the phone, should it ring while you are putting on new garments.

Every night before putting the baby to bed sing it a few notes about the Democratic convention held in New York in 1924. Instead of counting sheep, count the number of ballots taken to nominate J. W. Davis. The baby will soon be in slumberland.

If you spare the rod, you spoil the child. So on with the horsewhippings.

SAYS WHICH?

SCHLESINGER DOES NOT FEAR NEW PROBE

Asserting he was not averse to an investigation of his department, State Highway Director G. F. Schlesinger, former Xenian, declared public officials have less chance of going wrong than any one else in an address in Columbus Tuesday.

"In my opinion a probe is all right," he said, "although I think there should be some protection against irresponsible persons."

He predicted Ohio would boast 7,000 miles of paved roads and 3,000 miles of gravel roads by the end of the year.

EVERYTHING MUST BE PAID FOR DAYTON ATTORNEY STATES

"What is the Cost?" is the most important question to Americans, according to Ellis Legler, Dayton attorney, who addressed Xenia Kiwanians, Tuesday evening.

Everything in our lives requires a payment, even though the payment be deferred, according to the speaker. If one neglects his health he pays the penalty and if he breaks the civil or moral law another type of cost is assessed. Men who neglect their children in their upbringing pay the cost in later years, he declared.

Countess Cathcart, who has been used by immigration authorities from entering America because of "moral turpitude" is making a deferred payment for her elopement with the Earl of Craven, Mr. Legler remarked.

He urged members of his audience to watch their health, home and business. To get the most out of life, he said, it must be taken as a game of checkers, accepting the board as you find it, with all importance placed on one's move.

He illustrated his subject with various incidents, and closed by reciting a well-known poem. The address was enthusiastically received by Kiwanians and their guests, numbering forty-seven.

T. H. Zell announced the inter-city Kiwanis meeting in Cincinnati, March 16 and urged Xenia club members to attend. A similar meeting was held in Xenia last year.

Between $175 and $200 were realized by the club from the welfare show staged at Jean B. Elwell Auditorium, last week, C. A. Bone, announced.

J. A. Adair's committee was in charge of the evening's program.

DONAHEY TO SPEAK AT JEFFERSON MEET

FREMONT, O., March 3.—(UP)—Governor Vic Donahey is to be the speaker of the evening at the annual Jefferson Day banquet of the Sandusky County Democratic organization tomorrow night.

Judge Florence Allen, of the Ohio Supreme Court, candidate for the democratic nomination for U. S. Senator from Ohio in next August's primaries, it to be another speaker on the program.

BOUND TO CHANGE

CLEVELAND, O., March 3.—(UP)—A new "snappy comeback" is being offered by Clevelanders to visitors who have complained of erratic weather conditions in the vicinity during the past winter.

"If you don't like the Cleveland weather, wait a minute."

The Theatre

In the past, European films have been shown only occasionally in America. The few attempts to distribute them have been largely experimental and few of the films shown had been made with an eye to what American audiences wanted.

But German producers in particular have long had their eyes on the American market. Of late they have made a more determined effort to appeal to the American public and American film magnates have decided that

HUNGARIAN MOVIE PRODUCERS ATTACK AMERICAN FILMS

BUDAPEST, March 3.—Hungarian film producers have issued invitations to producers throughout Europe to meet in Budapest for a conference on ways and means to break the semi-monopoly enjoyed by American films in Europe.

In Hungary as well as in most other European countries local producers are finding it next to impossible to meet the keen competition of the American film industry. Half-bankrupt producers, jobless actors, and idle scenery builders are increasingly disturbed by the increasing number of American films shown in their theaters.

The Budapest conference is looked forward to with great interest by laymen as well as by persons interested directly in the trade.

When You Catch Cold Rub on Musterole

Musterole is easy to apply with the fingers and works right away. Often it prevents a cold from turning into "flu" or pneumonia. It does all the good work of grandmother's mustard plaster without the blister.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made of oil of mustard and other home simples. It is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Try Musterole for sore throat, cold on the chest, rheumatism, lumbago, pleurisy, stiff neck, bronchitis, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back and joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bite—colds of all sorts.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole. Jars & Tubes been definitely selected for the American market. They are "Vaudeville," "Metropolis," "Faust" and "A Waltz Dream."

Xenians are interested in Ufa's productions, since the president of the company, Mr. Kollman, millionaire German film producer, was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Hyman, E. Market St., about a year ago.

When everyone thought, or was at least hoping, that the movie sheik was completely passe, along comes Rudolph Valentino with the idea of re-creating the character. His next picture, as announced, will be "The Son of the Sheik," written by E. M. Hull, who was also responsible for "The Sheik," in which Rudy achieved such a vogue that he led all the youth of the nation astray, fashionably speaking.

Rudy's recent pictures have not met with great success, and it is thought he is returning to turban, harem skirts and Oriental paraphernalia to win back his old esteem.

Four of Ufa's productions, have Henry Walthall, who won the admirer of thousands by his rendition of the "Little Colonel" in "The Birth of a Nation," is going to have a come-back in "The Unknown Soldier," in which he will be featured by Renaud Hoffman. For a long time, Walthall has been doing supporting parts, and this production means a chance for the renewal of his stardom and he may win one of the big Warfield plays later on.

Though for a long time he has had few consequential parts of play, Walthall's acting has always been of the finest.

George O'Brien, son of Daniel O'Brien, chief of police of San Francisco and Madge Bellamy, whom Penhryn Stanlaws, the artist, said was the most beautiful girl in America, play the leads in "The Iron Horse," which opened a two-day engagement at the Bijou Theater Wednesday. George O'Brien is probably the newest leading man on the screen and his work in the John Ford Production has been a big boost toward his screen success. Gladys Hulette, who has been making pictures so many years she is afraid to tell her age, has an important role in the picture. J. Farrell McDonald is another veteran actor who makes a big hit in a role that adds comedy relief to the picture. Judge Charles Edward Bull, whose likeness to Abraham Lincoln has made him famous through the West.

BACKACHES DUE TO WEAKENED KIDNEYS

Nine times out of ten the real cause is disordered kidneys. More surface rubs, liniments, etc., do not touch this cause and therefore only give temporary relief. But a famous old Dutch internal remedy, long known to physicians and now put up in easy-to-take, tasteless capsules goes direct to congested, irritated kidneys, drives out poisons and quickly restores normal, healthy action—so backache, lameness, rheumatic pains and burning, frequent urination, disappear as if by magic. WHY THEY ARE SO MUCH BETTER

The extraordinary richness and sweetness of flavor found in "E" BRAND APRICOTS is due to the fact that every "cot" is ripe to the golden core when picked for canning. Because they are ripe the apricots cannot be peeled before canning, but the peeling is so loose it can be easily slipped off. This makes the apricots more tasty.
